BART —'Better Late Than Never' in West Bay

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Better late than never might be a suitable comment regarding the delayed start of Bay Area Rapid Transit service to Daly City.

The new date, as announced by San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto last Tuesday, is now Nov. 5, 1973.

But the mayor qualified this by explaining BART would not provide the anticipated 32,500 daily commuters in the Daly City-downtown San Francisco corridor with "full" service — at least not for another six months.

Instead, BART will run regular commuter service between eight West Bay stations, terminating at Daly City.

No trains will connect the East Bay with San Francisco or Daly City through the trans-bay tube until the Public Utilities Comission finds all "bugs" are completely out of the automated switching and control system.

Regardless of the limited service, Mayor Alioto, along with Daly City officials will stage gala "opening day" festivities all along the line, starting on Nov. 3.

Chairmen of the local event is Daly City restaurantuer and president of the Chamber of Commerce, Frank (Toto) Spadarella, and Daly City Councilman McRobert Stewart.

Together, Spadarella and Stewart have mapped out plans for a huge bar-b-que complete with music, songs and speeches at the parking lot of the Daly City BART terminal on Knowles Avenue.

Originally the date for the opening of BART service to Daly City, and all the celebration, was Sept. 22.

Even this date was two years later than the original schedule had called for.

The train will travel the 7.5 mile route between Montgomery Street station in downtown San Francisco and Daly City in 13 minutes at a cost of 35 cents. It will cost 30 cents to ride between stations.

The trains will be in service between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. There was no schedule announced for weekend, holiday or around-the-clock service, anticipated later.

First schedules call for four trains to run along the line — mostly in a subway. Safety observers will be posted at intervals along the line to insure trains are operating properly, a BART spokesman said.

Later, BART and the San Francisco muni system are expected to work out some sort of "one cost" transfer agreement for passengers who use BART and the muni system.

There are no storage yards as yet in the West Bay area and it was expected the Daly City terminus, with its multiple tracks, would provide parking for trains at the outset of service.

Daly City's station is longer than most other stations along the line and has three tracks.

On Saturday, Nov. 3, the public can ride BART free after special cermonies in San Francisco.

Pacifica Strike Ends

Pacifica's month-long garbage strike is over.

The 12-man crew of the Coastside Scavenger Co. returned to work Monday as owners Mario Torrigino and Louis Picardo worked to fulfill their pledge to pick up all the garbage that had gone uncollected over the past month.

Bob Morales, representative of Teamsters Local 350, Scavenger Drivers, claimed a victory for the union — parity with Daly City, whose garbage strike was settled as Pacifica's bagan.

Won by the union was a $1.68 increase over a three-year period, improved hospital insurance, an income protection plan, a doubled pension plan, more holidays, triple time for holiday work, vacation improvements, uniforms paid for by the employer, garbage cans with wheels paid by the employer, funeral leave, sick leave and retroactive pay to Aug. 1.

The two sides met Sunday and their settlement was ratified yesterday at 10:30 a.m. at the office of the Federal mediation service. With a skeleton crew going right to work in the afternoon.

"We're just happy . . . we're back to work and able to obtain a decent contract," Morales said.

Picardo, on the other hand expressed unhappiness at the settlement, stating that it would cost the firm too much money.

Both Picardo and Torrigino previously had insisted that their firm could not afford to pay what the Daly City firm paid since Pacifica was a poor city, with few of the commercial and industrial accounts that help support a garbage service. All increases to employes, they claimed, would have to be paid largely by the average householder.

Although neither was saying what caused them to settle, it appears that at least one major factor was their difficulty at finding a dump.

Last Friday, Picardo and Torrigino, who worked their trucks by themselves in serving their commercial and other major accounts in Pacifica and the Montara area, found their way blocked by a picket line at Daly City's Mussel Rock dump site. To save his own men from going out again, Al Sereni of the Daly City Scavenger Co., closed his dump to the Coastside Scavenger Co.

The Pacifica firm then tried the San Francisco dump on Tunnel Avenue and found pickets there too.

Saturday was the day householders brought their garbage down to the scavenger company's Palmetto Avenue headquarters. There was a report that the Pacifica trucks were using the Mussel Rock dump again — and Sereni appeared at the Palmetto Avenue office in an effort to stop the Scavenger Drivers union from picketing the dump again.

Later Saturday morning, trucks were dumping at the Picardo Ranch, off Park Pacifica.

EXPANSION of South San Francisco Fire Department is presaged by promotion of three firemen to captain. Left to right are William Stridbeck, Paul Tognetti and James Cunningham. Chief Lawrence Toellner is holding the helmet. Up to now, many fire companies have responded to fires without a captain; one of the firemen would be an acting captain.

SF to SJ; Junipero Serra Completed All the Way

The $35 million dollar, seven-mile stretch of Junipero Serra Freeway between Belmont and Woodside was opened to northbound traffic at 6 a.h. Friday and to southbound traffic about 1 p.m.

Official dedication ceremonies were held at 11 a.m. with the traditional ribbon-cutting signalling opening of all eight lanes.

The California Highway Patrol sent eight officers, including a sergeant and lieutenant to handle possible traffic jams or hazards arising out of motorists confusion and unfamiliarity with the new routing which speeds them between San Francisco and San Jose without a single signal stop.

Traffic was not allowed to use northbound lanes Thursday, as had been announced earlier in a press release from the District IV offices of the Division of Highways. The delay was due to completion work.

Friday's formal ceremony was attended by retired State Highway Engineer Alan Hart who is president of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He acted as master of ceremonies. Also in attendance was retired County Engineer Don Wilson. Cities, county, state officials and executives of road building firms were present for the event.

It took four years to complete the last highly controversial link in the major $350 million dollar Interstate Route 280, delayed for two years by a last-minute dispute over the routing.

Originally State Division of Highway District IV officials, the San Mateo county Board of Supervisors, and the San Francisco Water Department agreed on the low routing along the present Canada Road.

After agreements had been signed, San Francisco officials decided against the low route, and insisted on what was then called the "high ridge route." It would have been at the top of the hillsides creating a "horseshoe" link and longer route.

The dispute was carried to Washington, D.C., by Mayor Joseph Alioto, because federal funding was involved. The difference of opinion was finaly resolved by compromising on the present routing which cuts the hillside midway. The federal government also ordered that all the watershed be retained as open space in perpetuity, thereby ending speculation that San Francisco's insistence on the ridge route had been motivated by a desire to sell off sections of land severed by the high road on the eastern boundary.

The freeway link between Belmont and Woodside is the final one which interrupted the 55-mile-long connection between San Francisco and San Jose.

Junipero Serra construction has been unique in many ways, its special designs and attention to environmental, esthetic as well as safety factors.

Since the new road has been built almost entirely within the Crystal Springs watershed, the construction contracts required that all earthwork be done before the rainy months to avoid washing loose dirt into the lakes.

All bare slopes had to be reseeded with natural grasses that sprouted in the wet weather. This was only one of the many erosion control measures the state required to protect the water quality of the lakes.

An additional $1.5 million was spent to build an elaborate drainage system to prevent "contaminated" water from polluting the reservoir during and after the highway construction.

Run-off from undisturbed terrain will still drain directly into the reservoir through culverts placed under the roadbed.

All turbid water, the run-off from excavated slopes and the freeway itself will be diverted into San Mateo creek, which will carry it to the bay.

There are two permanent water retention and settling basins within the project, one just north of the intersection of Edgewood and Canada Roads, and the other near the Interstate 280 and Interstate 92 interchange.

Maximum use of contour grading and slope rounding was made by the road's builders, blending cut slopes into the surrounding terrain.

State engineers say when the planting grows up, it will be difficult to tell an unobtrusive rounded slope from the natural hillside. The slopes along the freeway are stepped to create a series of plateaus that control erosion and encourage plant growth. Large boulders found at the site were placed on hillsides after to add to the natural look.

The last most scenic seven miles of Junipero Serra include three vista points, one on the west side and two on the east side of the freeway.

Crosby Takes North County Council Post

Burlingame City Councilman William J. Crosby replaced Brisbane Councilman William E. Lawrence as chairman of the North San Mateo Council of Cities Thursday.

Lawrence was one of three councilmen recalled in a special election last Tuesday in Brisbane.

He had been elected to the post only two months ago and Thursday was his first full meeting of the North County Council of Cities. In his farewell speech, Lawrence said he had no bitterness and the fact that he had been elected to head the NCCC "was the greatest thing that ever happened to me."

He ended his brief speech by telling the members "I love you all and will miss you very much."

Dignitaries attending the session included Charlotte Shultz, representing Sen. Arlen Gregorio, County Supervisor Bill Royer and Assemblyman Louis J. Papan's special representative Rick Silver.

The NPL Kicks Off

North Peninsula League football teams begin the 1973 season with practice games this weekend, most of them at or reasonably close to home.

The Friday schedule:

Westmoor at Lowell, 3 p.m.; McAteer at Jefferson, 3:15; Capuchino at Terra Nova, 7:30; Hillsdale at El Camino, 8; and Half Moon Bay vs. Aragon at Burlingame High field, 8.

Saturday's games:

St. Elizabeth (of Oakland) at Oceana, 1 p.m.; Serramounte at Montgomery (Santa Rosa), 8; and Crestmoor at South San Francisco, 8.

'2-Segment' Approaches Cut Jet Aircraft Noise

By GEORGE GOLDING

Flying a "two-segment" approach is one method airlines have developed to reduce noise over communities bordering airports.

The technique is a simple one to describe, but not so easy to apply to the day-in and day-out rigors of operating an airline.

In essence, a plane merely approaches the landing field at a higher-than-normal altitude until it is fairly close in, and then makes a steeper landing.

The result is that a plane is higher, over neighboring homes, and is therefore less noisy.

A new development may also result in descending aircraft being horizontally farther away in some instances, resulting in an even greater noise reduction.

Under conditions of good visibility, which pilots label "VFR" weather, when "Visual Flight Rules" apply, a straight-in two-step landing approach is simple for a pilot to make.

Simple, if he can forget certain factors such as the need for his passengers to feel safe and comfortable in the normal gentle approach they have grown accustomed to in 40 years of airline operation.

ALSO SIMPLE if he can plan his steep descent to end exactly at an imaginery point in the sky where his plane will intersect the gentler normal glide slope before actually landing.

Touring United Air Lines' Denver flight training center, led to a demonstration of simulated landings in a Boeing 727, taking turns at both normal and two-step approaches.

The catch comes when you realize that not all airliner landings are made under "visual flight rule" conditions.

A pilot may take off at Los Angeles in smog, land at Monterey in fog, touch down at San Francisco in clear weather, and go on to Portland where it is raining.

Even if the weather is clear, a pilot must keep up-to-date on his instrument flying proficiency, and will often make landings on his instruments when visibility is perfectly clear outside. Some airlines require that most landings be made "on instruments," so that pilots do not get rusty in these necessary techniques.

Another difficulty in adapting the two-segment approach to regular use, is the confusion which results when other pilots are not using the technique.

John A. "Mo" Morrison, supervisor of flight training at United Airlines' Denver Center, reports that other pilots frequently are confused by the apparent difference in altitude, when UAL Flight 721 (a Boeing 727) comes into airports on two-step landing approaches.

"I REMEMBER one radio conversation when a pilot behind us asked for landing clearance, and was told to follow the 727 in.

"We were closer in, and higher. Below us, and much nearer the airport, was a 747, but the apparent differences in altitude made us appear to be about the same size.

"Which one?" the pilot asked. 'The higher one, or the lower one?'

"The tower told him to follow the 727, not the 747, and he again asked, 'which one?' He couldn't tell the difference until they told him we were making a two-step landing."

Morrison reports that during several months of on-duty study partially financed by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, United has flown more than 850 two-segment landings in regular airline service.

"As a result, our pilots between San Francisco, Denver, and Los Angeles, are gaining a great deal of experience and knowledge about asking this technique, and this equipment, in the air traffic control environment."

Equipment is a key to normal use of the two-step landing technique.

Normally, an airliner's instrument landing system radio devides "lock on" to a narrow

The Fishy Cadillac

Sharp-eyed Brisbane Police Chief Bill Beard thought something looked fishy when he saw a man drive up with a girl to a local motel Friday afternoon.

Their car was a late-model Cadillac but its license plate was encased in a chrome license plate holder with the name of a Chevrolet agency.

He ran a check on the license plate and found it was indeed registered to a Chevrolet.

Beard arrested Billy Ray Carter, 33, San Francisco, on suspicion of car theft and possession of stolen property, according to Brisbane police.

Beard said Carter admitted that he had taken the car from a Menlo Park car lot. The girl was released.

Higher Patterns for Landing Jets

beam broadcast from the airport up a 3 per cent slope from the ground, and follow this invisible path to a smooth landing. At San Francisco International they "lock on" to the ILS slope somewhere southeast of Foster City.

TO OPERATE a two-step approach, electronic equipment must be altered, to allow the plane to ignore this invisible railway in the sky, fly over it to a pre-designated spot, make a controlled 6 per cent descent to the normal ILS landing slope, and then follow the shallower path to the ground. Fortunately, a new system of aerial navigation known as "area navigation," came to the aid, their aid. These devices permit a pilot to fly to the side of a boradcast navigational beam known as a "VOR radial."

By adapting the same kind of electronics, equipment was developed to permit over-flying the ILS slope and then dropping to it.

"We have developed a system that is even safer than the normal ILS system," Morrison says.

"An ILS transmitter often broadcasts several spurious beams, which an airliner can pick up and follow. On a shallow slope, these are not critical, but on a steep descent, if you were following a false signal it might prove dangerous.

"We had to develop the system to three critieria: safety, reduction in noise, and pilot acceptance."

PILOT ACCEPTANCE depends to a large degree on passenger acceptance. Paying customers do not like to be thrown about needlessly in the air, and a crucial consideration was devising a system to make the turning points unobtrusive.

"We made it a factor of speed," Morrison explained. "We found people will notice a change in speed, above 20 knots, (about 25 mph) or a change in nose-up attitude of more than 10 degrees. We had to devise a system where changes in speed were gradual, and changes in attitude are gentle."

As it operates, the United-NASA system works very well.

The pilot has but one extra switch to operate, as he nears the landing field.

Once he switches on the "capture" button, the remainder of his landing is automatically calculated by the planes navigational computers, and the pilot must merely follow the instruments as he normally does.

"We only added two items to the pre-landing checklist," Morrison says.

The device as it is now being used, can be fully linked with the plane's auto-pilot, but not with the auto-throttles which automatically control a plane's airspeed.

The equipment will not permit a pilot to "lock on" to the glide slope farther out than five miles from the airport, as a protection against "false" glide slope beacons; and automatically dis-engages when the plane is within 1.8 miles of the airfield, as a protection against going too low.

"It was a tough job, but we elected to develop a system that would adapt to our present procedures, rather than require pilots to learn new ones, which might have resulted in greater confusion, and less safety."

EVEN THOUGH the equipment appears fully satisfactory, and is used daily on a flight that loops from Denver to Los Angeles to Portland, there is no liklihood that "two-segment" approaches will be adapted to the airline industry overnight.

First comes approval of the Federal Aviation Administration, and then comes the cost of adding and adapting existing equipment.

Noise reduction may be possible via the "two-step" landing, but it will not be immediate.

When it does arrive, however, it may arrive with a bonus.

Due to the similarity between the two-step landing equipment and the area-navigation equipment already in use by many airlines, it will be possible for planes to make landings which are "two-segment" horizontally, as well as "two-step" vertically.

By linking the area-nav equipment to the landing devices, said Morrison, it would be entirely possible for an airliner to make a turning and descending landing, as easily as a straight-in descending landing.

For residents of such communities as Foster City, this would mean that jets descending for a landing could fly farther out, away from homes, being more distant as well as higher.

The sideward "displacement" of the electronic glide path could result in noise reductions of 10 to 20 per cent, the experts predict.

Woman Hurt In Rollaway In Broadmoor

The operator of a "Good-Time Ice Cream" truck was injured Friday when she tried to stop her truck as it rolled riderless down a steep Broadmoor street.

She was Betty Paine, 56, 431 Baden Ave., South San Francisco. According to Broadmoor police, the truck was parked on Galman Drive, just below Eastmoor. When she tried to stop the truck the door struck her, and she hit her head. A neighbor also rushed out to stop the truck but could not get over the amplifying equipment to reach the brake.

Health Dept. Warns About Freezers

If you overstock your freezer you may be taking risks with your family's health.

That warning has come from George Nakamura, consumer protection specialist for retail food in San Mateo County's Public Health division.

Nakamura said large numbers of local consumers recently have purchased freezers to stockpile an assortment of food products, especially meat.

"Overstocked freezers or those operating at improper temperatures can result in deterioration of food qualities and unsafe food," Nakamura said.

"The consumer faces the very real threat not only of a loss of nutrition, flavor, texture and protein characteristics, but also dangerous microbiological growth," he said.

A properly operated freezer, maintained at zero degrees to 10 degrees Fahrenheit, monitored with a thermometer located in the freezer but away from the refrigeration system, safely can contain food for a considerable period.

A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture report indicates that lowering of temperature to ten degrees below zero approximately doubles the time food products can be contained safely.

At ten degrees above zero food begins to thaw and products cannot be contained safely for any considerable time. The average refrigerator, for example, has a temperature of about 40 degrees above zero and meat and poultry products should not be held over five days, Nakamura said.

If there is a power failure freezers should not be opened unless absolutely necessary, he added. If foods are defrosted accidentally and the defrost time has not been over three hours, consumers should use the stored products as soon as possible, he said.

Cow Palace To Offer School Tours

School children and their teachers will have an opportunity to learn firsthand about the livestock industry — producer of California's number one agricultural product and the subject of many of today's headlines — when the Grand National Show opens at San Francisco's Cow Palace next month.

The Cow Palace is planning a special reception for school groups in conjunction with the Grand National's Livestock Exposition, where more than 3,000 champion-quality cattle, sheep and swine will be on display.

Teacher-escorted groups from first to ninth grades will be admitted free during school hours Monday through Friday October 29 through November 2. They will be directed to a self-guided "white line" tour of the livestock pavilions, main arena and horse barns.

Placards and take-home booklets will tell what to look for in each of the various breeds and provide essential information on their history and present role in the livestock industry.

The school groups also will watch livestock judging and auctions in progress.

Details and reservation forms have been sent to public elementary and junior high school principals of the Bay Area.

The 1973 Grand National opens October 26 and runs through November 4.

Protesting CHP Men Cancel Bonds

Almost to a man, the officers stationed at the California Highway Patrol's county headquarters in Redwood City have cancelled their payroll deductions to purchase Federal savings bonds to protest the Federal Cost of Living Council's Order to roll back state employes pay increases by 3 per cent.

The officers are following a recommendation of the California Association of Highway Patrolmen.

The officers this morning reported that the protest is rapidly spreading among other state employes.

In a letter from Sacramento, the board of directors of the association said:

"We ask that all Highway Patrolen immediately discontinue payroll deductions for U.S. Savings Bonds.

"This act will put back in your pocket a few of the dollars refused by the federal government and signify our angry concern over the unfairness of their decision.

"We encourage you to urge all state employes to follow our lead in this bond cancellation action."

The letter said the actual percentage cut will not be known until sometime after Sept. 5th.

"The Association has sent telegrams to both President Nixon and Governor Reagan demanding immediate reinstatement of the cut and challenging the council's authority to interfere in the internal affairs of a sovereign state," the letter continued.

GEORGE R. BEIDLER of San Mateo has been appointed western district manager for heating, ventilating and air conditioning equipment manufactured by Dravo Corporation.

WILLIAM R. BELL of San Mateo has been named corporate banking officer in Wells Fargo Bank's head office securities industry department, San Francisco. He joined Wells in August.

55 Apply Police Chief Post

The salary of Acting Police Chief Howard Trickett was set by the San Mateo City Council Wednesday at $1,765 per month, or $21,080 per year, should he become the permanent appointee.

Some 55 men are seeking the job from throughout the western states and Guam.

Retired Chief Kohnen's annual salary was $23,316 upon his retirement last Friday.

He came into the department Wednesday to pick up his check and waved a happy goodbye to return to his wife, home, boat, hunting and fishing on Bethel Island.

In other action the council took note and filed the Baywood Owners' Improvement Association letter announcing its opposition to further executive zoning and commercial sales activity within its general area or near any residential area near El Camino Real.

The council named Deputy Mayor John Condon as its voting delegate to the annual League of California Cities Conference to be held in San Francisco Oct. 21-24. Councilwoman Jane Baker was named as the alternate.

Ten days' notice will be given to Stephen Andrews of 2156 Fillmore St., San Francisco to abate a structure declared a nuisance by the city. It is located at 39 N. Fremont St.

Building Official Jack Watt told the council that from a "dilapidated building," the owner, or his representative converted the structure originally cited for condemnation to a "dilapidated frame." After 10 days the council will contract to remove the frame and put a lien against the property for the cost of razing if it has not been done.

It also approved the park and recreation element of the General Plan which includes a bikeways and trails plan, subject to amendment. There are at present city-owned easements earmarked for the use. Meanwhile, the Park and Recreation Commission will be asked to review the bikeways and trails plan on an overall basis. The county will receive the plan by Sept. 9, which is its deadline for application for future funding to improve the trail and bikeways.

The council continued to its Sept. 13 study meeting appropriating of additional funds for plant treatment and testing required by the Walter Quality Control Board.

Approved was the abandonment of certain navigational easements in Mariner's Island Units No. 2 and 3. They are not under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Army Engineers, Mayor Floyd Welch explained.

The appointment of Barclay Bank as fiscal agent, while approved, will go to study to determine the extent of cost involved. Six banks bid for the contract to be the paying agent of the $1,025,000 in bonds for the Downtown San Mateo Parking Garage at Second Ave. and El Camino Real. The lowest bidder was Barclays at $75. The highest was Central Bank of Oakland at $1,261.50.

The council reclassified property for Concar Ranch and Enterprises involving land use changes to executive from commercial and general manufacturing to limited retail and commercial. It also approved a land use change to allow location of the Boar's Head restaurant at Concar Drive and Amphlett Blvd.

The council heard a nearby property owner protest to the movement of fill on the Montgomery Ward site recently creating a five-foot mound. He told of an argument that ensued. The council asked the city manager to investigate.

DC-Colma Demo 'Town Hall' Meet

The skyrocketing cost of living, its causes and cure, will be the subject of a talk by a speaker from the California Food Action Campaign Committee at a "town Hall" meeting at 7 p.m. September 18 in Daly City.

The Daly City-Colma Democratic Club's September meeting at the Pauline Brown School on Eastmoor Avenue has been turned into an open meeting for that purpose and the public is invited.

Environment Role In City Planning

What do you do with a planned community on San Bruno Mountain if the city which includes it in its sphere of influence doesn't want it?

According to San Mateo County Planner Donald A. Woolfe there are several alternatives keep it in the county, incorporate it as an individual city, or possibly re-plan it.

Woolfe appeared before the monthly meeting of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities last week in South San Francisco and told them of his department's role in today's planning environment.

And the environment does play a major part in planning nowadays, Woolfe pointed out.

He has at times up to seven people working on environmental impact programs, such as the airport expansion.

In explaining the changes in present policy dealing with environmental impact reports, Woolfe noted that "The winds of change have turned into a hurricane."

Changes are coming from many areas, including rethinking on varitus matters by the State Legislature.

Planning has drifted more toward resource management, Woolfe said.

Part of his duties concern keeping pace with the happenings of regional agencies such as the Association of Bay Area Governments, Coastal Commission, Air Pollution Board and Bay Area Sewage Service Agency. There are 13 such agencies now in existence in the state.

Woolfe said the decision-making process on planning has been so fragmented "we are drowning in paperwork affluent."

He thinks that countywide planning in some matters, such as seismic studies for all county cities, with input by each city, is the way to go on large scale issues.

Consolidation of matters affecting many cities should be considered on an increasing scale, Woolfe suggested.

"There are tradeoffs we must consider in any project," Woolfe said.

These "tradeoffs" are existent in every project and include weighing the impact on the environment from traffic, noise, population density and the effect on surrounding cities, it was understood.

Brisbane Recall a 'Stunning Upset'

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Brisbane voters ousted mayor Jess C. Salmon and two of the city's 5 councilmen in a special recall election last Tuesday.

In what was considered by political observers to be a stunning upset, some 61 percent of Brisbane's 1400 registered voters trooped to the polls and voted overwhelmingly to recall Salmon, a veteran of 12 years on the city council, William Lawrence and Julius Stern.

Salmon had been the target of two previous recall efforts, but had each time retained office.

Yesterday, however, Salmon lost, 558 for recall to 339 for a "no" vote on the issue.

Lawrence lost 525 for, to 373 "no recall," while Stern lost 535 for to 362 for "no recall."

On the question whether the city should appoint three new councilmen or hold another special election within the 74 to 89 day period, voters mandated elections be held.

The vote was 664 for elections to a mere 94 for appointment.

None of the three recalled officials can run for council office either in the upcoming special election or in the regular elections of April 1974. They must wait at least one year from the date of their recall. They will, however, hold office until replaced.

Only last week all three men were predicting an easy victory in the recall.

Lawrence blamed his ouster on "a new element in the city" led by fellow councilman Dr. S. J. Guardino.

He said the pro-recall group's charges that he was non-responsive to the citizens "is ridiculous" and asked "how can we be anything else other than what we were."

"We were always there to represent the people (at various functions)," he said.

There was no indication who the candidates would be in the upcoming special election sometime around the first of the year.

L.B. Nelson Gets Disney World Pact

L. B. Nelson Corp. of Menlo Park said Thursday it has been selected by Walt Disney Productions to develop approximately 900 apartments at Lake Buena Vista, Fla., to house employees of Walt Disney World.

Nelson is the first housing developer to be invited into the 27,000-acre Disney property to produce housing in any form, either for sale or for rental, according to the firm.

The Disney-Nelson development agreement calls for construction of low-rise garden apartments. L.B. Nelson, president of the development company, said work on the first phase of 522 apartments will start in 60 to 90 days at Lake Buena Vista, 16 miles southwest of Orlando.

"We look forward to working with the Disney organization because our project at Walt Disney World will create a combination of talents that could have an important influence on improving the future design and management of housing," Nelson said.

"We see also a steadily increasing demand for housing of all kinds at Walt Disney World. This unique and delightful entertainment center will prove to be a most attractive living environment to people of all ages from all parts of the country in the coming years."

A ready market for the planned Nelson apartments already exists among the Walt Disney World employes, numbering up to 12,000 in peak months. Most of the employes now commute long distances to work from surrounding cities because so little housing is available near the Disney center.

A rustic environment will be created around the buildings with man-made lagoons, brooks and waterfalls, transplanted mature trees and contoured sodded lawns, according to the firm. Multipurpose recreation buildings, swimming pools, tennis courts, volleyball courts and outdoor barbecue areas will be installed for the residents' leisure-time hours.

DC Pair and The Cholera Scare

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Someday those 254 persons who took a combined air-sea tour of the Mediterranean for two weeks this summer will probably look back and laugh long and loud.

In the meantime many are visibly upset over the last chapter in what was an otherwise glorious vacation which ended at Oakland International Airport Tuesday noon.

Among the persons participating in the tour, which left the Bay Area on Aug. 19, were Ray and Ginny Letsinger of Daly City.

Ray Letsinger is the assistant city manager of Daly City.

The group jetted off to sunny Majorca, Spain, where they boarded a cruise ship, the RHMS Queen Fredericka, at Palma bound for Naples, Italy.

Ray and Ginny marveled to the delights of Palermo, Genoa, Cannes and Barcelona. It was all new and exciting to the young couple, they said on return.

In Napes a "nice man" with a tray of raw clams and lemon wedges sidled up to the Letsingers and offered them a sample.

"It was at a place much like San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf," Letsinger recalled.

Ginny was reluctant at first to sample the clams, but she was an avid clam fancier and decided to try one. She ended up eating several, according to her husband.

Then it was off to Spain and finally back to the island of Majorca for a week of rest and sightseeing.

They were on the island only a few hours when news was received of the outbreak of cholera in Italy — blamed on mussels.

The outbreak of cholera was traced to polluted seafood in the Naples area. Within days it had spread to several other cities the Letsingers had visited, along with other Bay Area tourists.

Letsinger said quite a few persons, his wife included, suffered from intestinal disorders and diarrhea "off and on during the entire trip."

The cholera scare was dismissed by the couple.

From Majorca the group was to return to the United States. The big DC-8 "stretch jet" was several hours late in arriving to pick up passengers.

Shortly before midnight, the group took off.

They were told the plane had been diverted to Bangor, Maine for refueling and customs check. They thought nothing of the news and some six hours later landed without incident.

But instead of taxiing to the terminal building, as is customary, the huge jet pulled off to the side of the runway and parked.

The pilot announced that a health inspector would board the plane and ask questions about their trip to Italy. They were asked to cooperate.

"There was a few mumbles but we really didn't think we would be detained too long," Letsinger said.

When the hours dragged by and the lines at restrooms began backing up, the mumbles turned to growls of anger from many dicontented passengers.

Although there was plenty of food and drink, the tired group was suffering from abdominal distress and there was a long line waiting to use the already overused restrooms, Letsinger said.

Following a series of telephone calls between the airport and a health inspector "somewhere in Atlanta," the plane was allowed to proceed to Oakland.

"They didn't even let us off the plane while they refueled it," Letsinger said. "At first the pilot told us the reason the plane's restrooms were jammed was because no one at the airport would come near us for fear of catching cholera."

It was later learned health inspectors were checking for laboratory comparisons to determine if cholera had infected anyone aboard, Letsinger said.

Instead of returning to its base in Los Angeles, however, it was once again diverted, this time to Oakland where health inspectors decided to again check passengers.

While State Health Director J. M. Stubblebine informed those aboard the plane the outbreak of cholera among them was "remote," he nevertheless insisted that passengers submit to tests.

Latest reports indicate these tests were negative and no one on the tour had been infected with the killer disease.

Those persons suffering from what Dr. Stubblebine classed as a "mild illness" probably contracted some sort of gastrointestinal disorder from unsanitary conditions encountered during the tour.

Meanwhile, the Letsingers have decided to place the entire incident in the "experience" column of their life.

HOME AT LAST after their long delay in Bangor, Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Letsinger look over some of the literature they brought home from their tour of the Mediterranean. They were in southern Europe when the Italian cholera crisis began and sat overnight on their home-bound plane in Bangor while health officials backed and filled, then had to take tests when they reached Oakland. Letsinger is assistant city manager of Daly City.

New 'Project Area' Set Up in Daly City

Daly City will have a "Project Area" adjacent to the BART station after Sept. 11 and the people of this area have asked for representation in whatever is done in their neighborhoods.

Under Section 33385 of the Redevelopment Law, a "Project Area Committee" is authorized to represent four categories in an area: residential tenants, residential owners, organization and business people.

Responding to many requests from the project area people, the clergy of Daly City has formed a Committee of Concerned Clergy to sponsor an elected project area committee that would follow legal requirements and "truly represent the people of the area," according to the Rev. Hosey Spears of the Second Baptist Church.

An election of such a project area committee has been set for Sept. 18 and 19. By arrangement with Father Thomas McElligott of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, the election will be held there both nights at 7:30.

The first night's election will be for residential tenants and residential owners.

Organization representatives and business people will meet to elect committee members the next night. There will be five members elected from each group for a total of 20 on the Project Area Committee.

Those who reside or have their business in the project area are entitled to vote. They are asked to bring some proof of residence or business activity such as driver's license, letter addressed to them or business stationery. Only those actually in the project area, as defined by the planning commission, are eligible.

All are urged to come as this may be the last opportunity for citizen participation in the project that involves their homes and businesses, Rev. Spears said.

Flood Project Hearing Slated

A public hearing has been scheduled by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors for Oct. 9 at 2 p.m. to decide whether to proceed with the proposed $769,986 East Colma Creek storm drain improvement project.

The project was initiated by the board to alleviate storm of El Camino Real between flooding problems in the vicinity Daly City and Colma and in the Garden Valley area of Daly City.

Funding for the work has been scheduled on the following basis:

Federal government, $135,873; state, $54,027; county road fund, $60,927; North San Mateo County Sanitary District, $11,173; Property assessments, $507,986.

Bids for the project will be opened at the October hearing.

Saltwater Fishing Class Due

"Salt Water Fishing from A to Z," another unique six-part fishing course presented by the Community Services Office of Skyline College for the residents of North San Mateo County, begins at 7:30 p.m. September 18 in the Pacific Heights Elementary School, across from the college campus.

Under the guidance of Larry Green, West Coast field editor for Field and Stream Magazine, students will learn how to properly hook, play, land and identify their catch.

Enrollment fee is $11 and one unit of college credit is available (Physical Education 149). Application blanks on Community Services brochures are in libraries throughout North San Mateo County. Registration also may be in person at the theater box office from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. weekdays.

JESD Trustees Criticize Greenwood Agreements

Ousted Jefferson Elementary School District Supt. Frank L. Greenwood came in for some subtle criticism from majority members of the school district's Board of Trustees Wednesday.

While not mentioning Greenwood by name, Trustees Dorothy Adams, Beverly Forrester and David Parker strongly criticized the handling of two agreements with outside agencies administrator.

The matter of a verbal agreement with the Vista Grande cablevision company for laying lines across school property at the J. F. Kennedy School to reach some 500 homes in the area was discussed at length between the board and the acting superintendent, Keith Breon.

Breon said Troy Lee, district manager of Peninsula Cable Television Corp., informed him there had been "substantial correspondence" between the district and cable company over permission to install cable lines across school property.

Asked by Mrs. Adams if the district had these letters on file, Breon said, "No, we couldn't find them and neither could the State's auditors during their check some months ago."

Breon later said Lee had indicated during a telephone conversation that company officials likewise had no file copy of the letter exchange.

According to Breon, the cable company manager ventured that a former employe had removed these letters from a file.

"He did not tell me why this former employe would do that," Breon told The Times.

The state's auditors who conducted a special audit of the district earlier this year recommended that the school district look into the matter of how, when and by whom the cable company received permission to cross property to serve private homes.

district look into the matter of how, when and by whom the cable company received permission to cross property to serve private homes.

A franchise agreement with Daly City includes hooking up schools to the system for education purposes. Except in one instance this has not been done.

Mrs. Forrester asked Breon to find out why, "if there has been so much correspondence with the district administration over the year, it took so long to get a plot plan" of where the television cables crossed school property.

It had been previously explained by the state audit team that such cables could be damaged in construction of new buildings, and further the location of these cables with issuance of a revokable easement could prohibit buildings from being erected.

The other matter which brought Greenwood back into the limelight at the regular session was an alleged agreement with the Stockton Unified School District concerning computer services for ethnic balance studies.

Breon and John Brook, the district's new business manager, confessed ignorance of any agreement with Stockton for the services.

The matter was brought to light, Breon said, after the district received a bill for some $3,000 for computer services and wanted to know if the JESD would review a new agreement at a higher rate per student for the coming year.

Last year, Stockton School District said the cost for the ongoing study was 35 cents per child. This year they are asking 50 cents per student.

But none of the trustees remembered giving permission to the administrator to undertake such a matter.

Trustee Edward Tomasello "vaguely" recalled some months ago discussing a demographic study.

This concerned the use of junior college volunteers to conduct a door-to-door survey at a cost of some $2,500 to the district.

It fell through when they could not muster the needed volunteers.

Vista Mar Principal Bob Abbey informed the board the district's staff had been feeding the Stockton computer with statistics but had yet to receive any results or data on the subject of ethnic balance as a result of this.

PATRICK J. CONNOLLY, 11-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. John M. Connolly of Daly City, competed in the novice piping competition at the 108th annual Scottish Gathering and Games in Santa Rosa during the Labor Day weekend. Pat is a piper with the Prince Charles Junior Pipe Band of San Francisco and has been studying the pipes for three years. The band uniform he is shown wearing is the tartan of Prince Charles Edward Stewart. Pat attends Our Lady of Mercy School. He is a sixth grader and a Tenderfood Scout with Troop 347 of Daly City.

Peninsula Deaths

Rites Today For Former Police Chief

Daly City pioneer police officer and one-time chief, William P. Bolger, died Thursday morning in Petaluma, where he had been living in retirement.

He joined the department in 1929, a year after it had been created with a four-man force. He served as a clerk at first, but was appointed police officer in 1933. Following the resignation of a police chief under fire, in 1944, he became chief and served for two years.

In 1946, he stepped down at his own request and served until his retirement in 1955 as desk sergeant.

Prior to his coming to the department, he had worked at a local foundry, and had been a baseball player.

While in Daly City he had been active in the Eagles.

He is survived by his widow, Ethel, and his son, Phil. A second son was killed in the South Pacific in World War II, where he was serving with the Marines.

Services were held today in Petaluma. Pallbearers were retired members of the Daly City Police Dept., including Otto Schramm, the only one of the original four police officers still living.

Shot Kills SSF Soldier

Michael Allan Thompson, 20, 326 Baden Ave., South San Francisco, died of a gunshot wound in Italy, it was learned yesterday. The circumstances of the shooting remained a mystery.

His father, Charles Thompson, said yesterday that an Army representative simply visited him and told him of the death, but did not say how it occurred, except that it was still under investigation. It did not apptar to be suicide, and the father believed that it probably was an accident.

The dead youth had graduated from South San Francisco High School in 1971, attended College of San Mateo and then enlisted in the U.S. Army in January of 1972. He was a Specialist 4 in the Army Ordnance Division.

Survivors include two brothers, Charles Thompson Jr. and Lawrence Cabral, and two sisters, Maureen Ridings and Janet Thompson.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p.m. at Garden Chapel in South San Francisco. Full military services will be conducted, followed by interment at Skylawn Memorial Park. Contributions to the Heart Fund or a favorite charity are preferred by the family.

JAMES C. WILLIS

James Clayton Willis, 52, 391 Evergreen Drive, South San Francisco, died Monday.

He was a teamster for Acme Freight Co. He was born in Oklahoma.

Willis is survived by his wife, Dorothy; two sons, Gary Nicholson of San Lorenzo and Weldon Nicholson of San Francisco; three brothers, one sister and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. at the Garden Chapel, South San Francisco, followed by interment at Olivet Memorial Park.

LILLIAN JONES

Lillian C. Jones, 85, 182 Poplar Ave., San Bruno, died Tuesday. She was a native of New York.

Survivors include a son, Richard Dooley of Albuquerque; two daughters, Ann Verdugo of San Bruno and Ruby Gaitskill of San Bernardino; six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Friday at the San Bruno Funeral Home, with interment at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park.

DELLA C. O'BRIEN

Funeral services were held yesterday for Della C. O'Brien, who died Aug. 30 at San Bruno Convalescent Hospital.

A native of Ireland, she had lived in San Mateo County for nine years.

Survivors include two daughters, Mary Waechtler of San Bruno, and Adelaide Alexander of Alameda; a brother, Patrick Laine of Philadelphia; eight grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Services left Chapel of the Highlands yesterday, for a requiem mass at St. Bruno Catholic Church, followed by inurnment at Holy Cross Cemetery.

LEETA B. BROWN

Leeta B. Brown, 82, 1260 Hillcrest Blvd., Millbrae, was dead on arrival Sept. 2 at El Camino Hospital in Mountain View, after an illness. She was a native of Traver, Calif., and a resident of this county 16 years.

She was a retired schoolteacher, having taught in Visalia and Burlingame elementary school districts. She was a member of the San Mateo Court, Order of Amaranth.

Survivors include one son, D.S. Childress, Burlingame, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at Crosby-N. Gray Chapel in Burlingame, with interment at the Visalia District Cemetery Friday at 2 p.m.

JAMES G. TJOGAS

Fneural services for James G. Tjogas of Moss Beach will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Dutra-Randleman Funeral Home, Half Moon Bay, under the auspices of Coastside Lodge No. 672, F.&A.M. of Pacifica.

Tjogas, 56, of 301 Beach St., died yesterday at Moss Beach Rehabilitation Hospital after a lengthy illness.

He was the retired manager of Citizen's Utilities Co. in Montara, and a member of the Doric Lodge No. 216, F.&A.M. of San Francisco.

Tjogas and his wife, Opal moved to Moss Beach 10 years ago from his native San Francisco.

In addition to his widow, Tjogas is survived by his son, James of Montara; his daughter, Cindy Tjogas of Moss Beach; a brother, Harry of Danville; four sisters, Mrs. Estinas Asaro and Mrs. Vera O'Connor, both of Walnut Creek, Mrs. Sophia Asaro of Santa Rosa, and Mrs. Virginia Hobbs of San Francisco, and two grandsons.

Inurnment will be private at Skylawn Memorial Park in San Mateo.

'Guild Day' at Serramonte

The third annual Mary's Help Hospital Guild Day at Serramonte Center will be Oct. 4. Guild members will be at display booths, representating the guild and the hospital, and at participating stores to welcome shoppers from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

A raffle, luncheon and fashion show will be at the Ranch Inn in the center. Guild members, doctors' wives and hospital employes will model the latest fashions from the center's stores and shops.

This year the Heart Association, the Cancer Association, the Red Cross, Visiting Nurses Association and other community health services will share the day with the guild, setting up their own displays and managing their booths.

THE "SIGHTMOBILE" will be at Wellington and Mission streets in Daly City from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and at Westlake Shopping Center from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, both sponsored by the Daly City Host Lions Club. The mobile unit will provide visual screening for ocular defects to the medically needy who can't normally afford checkups, but the testing is open to the general public. Testing will be done by eye care specialists. Inspecting the mobile unit recently were, left to right, foreground, Dr. Richard Neumaier, the mobile vision clinic director; Mrs. Dolly Lewkowitz, Daly City Lioness Club immediate past president; Jack Giusto, Lions President; Lion Ray Logan; and Dr. Nick Choppelas, Lions Sightmobile project chairman. Harbor Dissolution Election Looms

The chairman of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors is proposing a countywide referendum to determine whether the harbor district should remain in existence.

The proposals follow the Wednesday action of the County Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) authorizing detachment from the harbor district of six cities and four special districts.

Chief Civil Deputy Dist. Atty. L. M. Sumney said that the harbor commission has 35 days following Wednesday's LAFCO hearing to initiate detachment proceedings. If the harbor commission fails to start the proceedings, then the Board of Supervisors must take the action.

At the hearing, Sumney stated, unless there is a protest by more than 50 per cent of the registered voters in each jurisdiction involved, or by owners of more than 50 per cent of the land in each jurisdiction, the commission must approve the detachment, subject to elections in each of the involved jurisdictions.

However, the chief deputy reported, James M. Dennis, attorney for the harbor district, has informed him that he intends to ask LAFCO for a countywide election on whether to dissolve the district. The harbor district has the prerogative to make such a request, Sumney said.

Dennis said the district would make such a request, however, only as a last resort if other remedies failed.

Robert St. Clair, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, expressed disappointment over the LAFCO action, charging it will increase the tax burden on the areas of the county remaining in the harbor district. He endorsed the concept of a countywide election to decide whether the harbor district should be dissolved. Such an election was held in 1970, with voters deciding to retain the district.

However, with the harbor district's expressed intention to go to court in an effort to overthrow the LAFCO action, it may be some time before the issue is resolved.

The harbor commission contends that the detaihment proceedings have been "illegal and defective from the beginning," and that any expenses brought about by the LAFCO action should be borne by the cities and special districts involved, as well as by LAFCO.

A statement to that effect was issued by the commission following its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night.

"I am very disappointed in LAFCO's action," St. Clair said. "The harbor district was originally formed by a vote of all the people of San Mateo County, and if all the people want the district disbanded now for some reason, they should have an opportunity to vote on it.

"The action by LAFCO has now confused the issue to the point where the taxing responsibility from the cities being detached is transferred to all the remaining citizens of the county still within the district.

"I believe this totally unfair, and I assume what will happen now is that the remaining cities in the county will apply for detachment from the district, theoretically leaving only those citizens in the unincorporated area to pay taxes to the district for the entire county.

"I've asked the county manager to investigate what procedure the Board of Supervisors can take to protect the citizens in the unincorporated area from being faced with supporting the taxing responsibility of the entire district.

"My only suggestion to LAFCO at this point, would be to, if at all possible, initiate a countywide election to answer the question once and for all."

Two Die in DC Shooting

Daly City police today were attempting to determine the motive behind what they termed a murder-suicide involving a 20-year-old woman and her 20-year-old nephew.

Police said the 5:30 p.m. Friday incident was witnessed by a five-year-old niece of the woman.

Dead are Annette Williams, of 16 Park Plaza, Apt. 8, and her nephew, Ike Brown, who police said was temporarily living at the residence.

According to police, they received a call from neighbors after the 5-year-old, who had just broken a window to get out of the apartment, was seen with a cut and bleeding hand.

The fire department was called to the scene by the police on what was initially thought to b a "lock-out." An officer went into the apartment to find the victims.

In piecing the incident together, police determined that Brown apparently shot the young woman in the head following an argument, and then turned the gun on himself. He also was shot in the head, police said. A .22-caliber weapon was found, police said.

School bells ring, the leaves begin to turn and drop, gardens begin exhibiting that last bright splash of color before everything dies down and the social calendar suddenly blossoms forth in a varied array of tours, luncheons, welcome teas, book drives and band rehearsals. In one short week everyone has to jump from the sublimely slow and relaxing pace of summer to the frantically harried gallop of the autumn season. Hold on while we shift gears, it's likely to be bumpy going for a bit!

THE SAN FRANCISCO ALUMNAE CHAPTER of Alpha Iota sorority will meet tonight at 7 in the home of corresponding secretary Mrs. Barbara Wolowic.

Mrs. Janis McCraney, newly installed president, will announce the names of her committee chairmen and introduce the new officers to the membership.

TOMORROW the Fifty Plus club will spend an entire day at the expanded Marine World-Africa USA.

A special arrangement has been worked out with the management and senior citizens taking part to have bus transportation to and from Pacifica city hall and the park, a luncheon at Marine World and a day filled with fun all for only $6.50.

Some space still may be available on the bus. If you are interested call Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg immediately.

MRS. MARY SHORT, president of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild, reports that guild members will be the hostesses for tomorrow's meeting of the North Peninsula Council of Hospital Volunteers.

The gathering will be at Mary's Help and a luncheon will be served. All members of the guild are invited to attend the work session and luncheon. Call the hospital volunteer office for reservations.

DO YOU HAVE A TUBA gathering dust in your closet? Would you enjoy seeing if you can coordinate your fingers on the valves with the forcing of air through a mouthpiece in the hopes of making music? In other words, if you have a yen to develop your musical talents and have the fun of playing in a band you may very well want to take advantage of an invitation to join the Daly City Community Concert Band.

Conductor Henry Nieboldt is inviting all adult musicians to join the band for rehearsals every Thursday evening at 7 in Room 227 at Serramonte High School.

According to Niebolt there are vacancies in almost all instrumental sections of the band and a special need exists for E flat, B flat and bass clarinets as well as alto saxophones, tubas and French horns. Interested adults are asked to come to the first meeting of the fall, September 20. New members are asked to register at the adult school office, 375 S. Mayfair Ave., Daly City, prior to attending rehearsals.

Rehearsals run from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. with an intermission at 8:30 p.m.

IF YOU HAVE some fairly new paperback books that are still in good condition, Mrs. Mary Goosev of the Balboa High School English Department would be very grateful if you would consider donating them to the department's Book Festival, to be in December.

The festival is planned as a means of placing books in the hands of poor readers in the hope that ownership more than two years old, in good condition and offer stimulating material — mysteries, best sellers, and biographies, are prime material for this drive.

Persons wishing more information about the festival and how best to contribute may call Mrs. Goosev or Nick Kafkas at Balboa High School.

MRS. NANCY SCHIDLER. Mrs. Ron Chiappari, Mrs. John Brigoli, Mrs. Daniel D'Amico, Mrs. Dan Regan and Mrs. Joseph Gumino were among those ladies of the hospitality and refreshment committees to pour coffee and serve pastries to the first grade mothers at Holy Angels School last Thursday.

Greeting the ladies on their first visit to the school were Father Cornelius O'Reilly, Mrs. George Sisigie, guild president, and Sister Pauline, principal of the school.

MRS. FRANCIS KELLY, president of the Westlake Catholic Women at Our Lady of Mercy greeted new and returning member of that group at the first gathering of the WCW earlier this month. Mrs. Kelly outlined the program and activities sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women and invited all ladies of the parish to take an active part in the group, according to Mrs. William Schou, publicity chairman.

THE RIORDAN GUILD met for the fall's opening session last Tuesday and heard Father John E. McEnhill discuss the school, its projects and program and the role of the guild can play in assuring the fullest possible experience in education to the young men attending Riordan.

Reservations are already on sale for the annual Riordan Guild fashion show and anyone interested is asked to call Guild President Mrs. Don McNab or Program Chairman Mrs. Carlo Cirelli.

WORKSHOPS ON amenities, publicity, dean of chairmen, membership, finance, parliamentary procedure, recording and corresponding secretaries and outlines for presidents were a featured part of the Golden Gate District, California Federation of Women's Clubs conclave last Monday at the Airport Plaza Hotel in Millbrae.

Also on the program, according to Mrs. Grace Cooley, publicity chairman, was Mrs. Paul Hammer, Status of Women Chairman, who outlined the Status of Women Awards to be given to the district convention in 1974.

GIRL SCOUTING

By ROZ MORINO

NEW REGISTRATION forms designed for a national computer will be the main feature of the Daly City Girl Scout orientation meeting at 7:30 p.m. September 13 in the social hall at Hope Lutheran Church, according to Training Coordinator Mrs. Grace Winters.

Experienced as well as new leaders have been asked to attend to meet the computer's paper work with knowledge and enthusiasm. Mesdames Donna Barnes and Shirley Figone will explain the computer registration concept. Introductions will be made by Mrs. Margaret Connolly, local Scout Association chairwoman.

A LEMONY STRIPED long sleeve blouse is worn under the dark green tunic topped pantsuit of the new Cadette Girl Scout "un-uniform." One of 15 different combinations soon to be available in local stores, all versions are considered dress uniforms. Cadette Scouting is open to girls in the 7th, 8th and 9th grades in North San Mateo County.

VISTA GRANDE BROWNIES interested in forming a new troop will meet today in the multi-use room at Vista Grande School from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

Brownies are for girls in the second and third grades and the new troop can be formed with the mothers or babysitters accompanying the girls. Senior Scouts will lead the new Brownies in songs and games.

SAVE MONEY, SAVE PAPER, SAVE TREES is the theme of the new paper drive of the San Francisco Bay Area Girl Scouts, according to Mrs. Connolly.

"This paper drive will concentrate on eliminating unnecessary paper at its source as well as the use of recycled paper and reprocessing waste paper," Mrs. Connolly recently announced.

SEPTEMBER 15 to October 15, Northern San Mateo County Scouts, newspapers and shopping centers will participate in a national leadership recruitment drive aimed at enlisting the help of the public to provide leadership for girls.

Any interested adult may call the phone number listed in the directory and ask for Mrs. Green, who will answer juestions about the opportunities open to adults in Scouting.

TRAINING for new leaders will begin September 18, at Hope Lutheran from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., led by Mrs. Lila Wilson working with Brownie leaders and Mrs. Carole Ann Scott with junior leaders.

Scout standards, the promise and law, troop finance, program planning, girl planning, use of handbooks and problem solving will be on the agenda.

Experienced leaders are invited to attend but these workshops will be geared to the new leader or troop committee chairwoman working with troops for the first time.

VICKY MORINO, Senior Scout and Jefferson High School freshman, recently taped three 20-second public service announcements at radio station KABL in connection with the Sept. 15-Oct. 15 national leadership recruitment drive.

Strike by WAL Pilots Averted

A threatened strike by 1,308 Western Airlines pilots — including 270 Western pilots based at San Francisco International Airport — did not materialize Thursday.

Negotiators for the Air Lines Pilots Association and Western Airlines officials announced agreement on a new pact only minutes before midnight that night.

The airline pilots had threatened to strike if an agreement was not reached before "one minute after midnight," said Capt. Richard Deeds, spokesman for the Burlingame-based local chapter of the pilots' association.

Fifteen hours of non-stop negotiations between the pilots and airline officials preceded the settlement.

Terms of the new pact will not be released until final contract language is adopted and signed by both sides.

The pilots had sought a 5.5 per cent wage hike and a 1.7 per cent increase in fringe benefits.

No matter how big your apartment is, it's got one thing in common with everyone else's apartment. It's not big enough.

Well, instead of resigning yourself to cramped quarters, come to our Ethan Allen Gallery and let us show you how to make the most of the space you have.

Our expert home planners can show you how to use mirrors and drapes to add depth to the smallest living room. How the right lamps and lighting fixtures can create a mood. How to use color patterns, textures, even accessories to make any room look a lot more roomy.

We also show you an ingenious modular system called the Custom Room Plan. With it you can turn a few feet of empty wall space into an office, a den, a home entertainment center or a much needed storage area that's as beautiful as it's functional.

And of course, we handle complete packages of furniture, carpeting, draperies, lamps, accessories, everything you need to make your apartment look like a decorator's dream. Like discreet drop leaf tables that open up to seat 8 for dinner. Or beautiful living room sofas that turn into comfortable full size beds at night.

Stop by our store and bring a floor plan if you have it. There are dozens of ways to give any apartment or condominium a new feeling of spaciousness and comfort.

And at Westlake Maple Shop, we know them all.

Help Wanted

A variety of volunteer opportunities are available in the community, and have been listed with the Volunteer Bureau-Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

VOLUNTEERS IN PROBATION — Staff assistants of either sex to work with juvenile or adult probationers in providing services including transportation, tutoring, companionship or clerical work.

BAY AREA BIG SISTERS — One or more volunteers to staff the part-time Burlingame office. Light typing, answering telephones and addressing will be among duties.

RED CROSS — Coordinator for the San Mateo region transportation service. Volunteer will be needed approximately three mornings a week.

PLANNED PARENTHOOD — Clinic volunteers. Special training session slated for a week from today at 7:30 p.m. at San Mateo office.

DAMIEN HOUSE — Persons to man the switchboard. Training will be given starting Sept. 25 for North County residents.

PENINSULA CONSERVATORY FOUNDATION — Aides interested in Bay environmental programs. Training will take place next month.

The bureau is located at 119 Primrose Road in Burlingame, and may be contacted for more information about these and other jobs during office hours, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the bureau shares in the United Crusade.

Sermon on 'Blessings'

Sabbath services will be conducted by Congregation B'nai Israel Sept. 14 at 8:30 p.m. Officiating will be Rabbi Sheldon Edwards and Cantor Jacob Graudenz. Rabbi Edwards has selected "The Blessings" as his sermon title for the evening.

Sabbath morning services Sept. 15 will be at 10 a.m. "The Warnings" will be Rabbi Edwards' sermon. A Kiddush will follow the service. Congregation B'nai Israel is at 1575 Annie Street in Daly City.

The Men's Club B'nai Israel will present a fashion show featuring apparel and footwear for the fall season by Roos-Atkins stores. Male fashions will be modeled by the Men's Club and professional models will be used to show the ladies' apparel.

The affair will be Sept. 15 at 8:00 p.m. at the Templehouse. Donation is $1.50 per person.

Door prizes and games are planned for the evening. Guests are welcome. The proceeds will be used to remodel the Sunday school facilities. Tickets may be obtained by calling the Temple office, 756-5430.

KAREN BOURDON, 9, was the clown at last week's "Welcome the teachers back" luncheon by the Crocker-Pershing-Washington P-TA at the George Washington School cafeteria in Daly City. The theme was "Carnival," to plug the P-TA carnival at Washington October 26, 27 and 28. Karen was the perfect prop, having won a clown contest at Serramonte Shopping Center last month and appearing as a "guest" clown at the recent Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey Circus at the Cow Palace. Kim, her sister, not pictured, won the same honor last year. Helping Karen to doll up were, left to right, Mrs. Daisy Pierson, Mrs. Chris Weist, Mrs. Fay Taylor and Mrs. Judy Bourdon, all P-TA officers. Karen is a fifth grader at Washington.

Used Book Sale Sept. 22

A large collection of widely diversified used books will be offered for sale at the Friends of the Daly City Library annual fall used book fair Sept. 22 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Westlake Shopping Mall. The merchandise will also include originally designed hand-crafted bookmarks and used records and sheet music.

Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach, book fair chairman, and Mrs. Helen Nerbovig, pricing chairman, say the book collection includes many children's books (among which are Nancy Drew mysteries), ranging in price from five to 50 cents. An assortment of adult fiction, both modern and nostalgic, will be available.

Non-fiction books for reference and home study this year include unusual categories such as aeronautics, weather and naval air. Others range from hot rod magazines for those interested in cars to foreign language books for the linguistically inclined.

Under chairmanship of Mrs. Thomas Jovick, a silent auction will be from noon until 2 p.m. Books chosen for this event include an autographed autobiography of Sophie Tucker, Arabic-English dictionaries and large encyclopedia dictionaries. Librarian Robert Kearney has aided in the selection of auction books.

Boy Scout Troop 369, under leadership of Raymond Boasso, will aid in setting up the fair.

Last-minute donations of used books, records or sheet music may be left in depositories at each of the three branch public libraries.

Proceeds from the fair benefit the public library.

Court St. Mary To Celebrate

Court St. Mary 1155, Catholic Daughters of America, celebrates its forty-third birthday with a buffet dinner and games at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Hall, 80 Wellington Ave., Daly City, Sept. 20 at 6:30 p.m.

Interested persons should make reservations early. A short program will follow the dinner. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Edward Paz at 756-0752.

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.

Heigh-ho and away they go, our darlings are back in school. Listen to that deafening silence. The TV set will cool down for the first time in weeks, the stereo is quiet, the refrigerator door will remain closed for more than ten minutes and (would you believe?) the phone will be open for incoming calls.

Now that school lunches and after school snacks are going to be a daily happening, let's start off our "vacation" with some baking.

Today I'm going to feature cookies that travel well. A friend called and asked for some ideas for goodies to mail away to her children who have gone back to college. After all, that sweet tooth doesn't disappear with the reception of a high school diploma. Homemade cookies are always a treat.

DREAM BARS

½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup flour

Combine the half-cup each butter and brown sugar with the one cup flour. Mix until crumbly. Press into bottom of 9 by 13-inch baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for ten minutes. Cool while you prepare the filling.

FILLING

2 eggs
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 Tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1½ cups coconut
1 cup chopped nuts

Beat the two eggs, the cup of brown sugar and the teaspoon of vanilla together. Combine the two tablespoons flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon baking powder and sift over the one and one-half cups coconut and one cup nuts. Fold into creamed mixture.

Spread this filling evenly over the baked bottom and bake 375 degree oven for 20 minutes. Cool and cut into bars.

These chocolate date bars are always well received. And they travel very, very well.

CALYPSO BARS

2½ squares unsweetened chocolate
two-thirds cup hot water
one and one-third cups dates, chopped
one and one-third cups sugar
1 cup margarine or butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups brown sugar
1½ cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon each soda and salt
1 cup nuts, chopped
1½ cups quick-cooking oats

Melt the two and one-half squares chocolate in the two-thirds cup hot water. Add the one and one-thirds cup each date and sugar and cook over low heat until thick (about 5 minutes). Blend in one-fourth cup of the margarine. Add one teaspoon vanilla and cool.

Cream the remaining three-fourths cup margarine and one and one-fourth cups brown sugar. Sift one and one-half cups flour, half teaspoon each soda and salt and add to the creamed mixture. Add the one cup chopped nuts and one and one-half cups oats. Mix until crumbly. Press half of this mixture into greased 9 by 13-inch pan. Spread date mixture over top and sprinkle with remaining dry mixture.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. Cool. Chill in refrigerator for one hour before cutting.

JOCELYN DENISE ROGERS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rogers, 113 San Diego Avenue, Daly City, has announced her engagement to Kenneth L. Ford of San Diego. The wedding will be at Hope Lutheran Church in Daly City at 6 p.m. September 29. The bride-to-be is a graduate of the College of the Virgin Islands and the groom-to-be of California State University at Hayward.

Bayshore Library Open House

The Daly City City Council and library board of trustees will inaugurate services at the newly opened, expanded Bayshore Branch Library at 2960 Geneva Avenue at 2 p.m. on Saturday. A public open house will follow until 4 p.m., with the Friends of the Daly City Library the hosts.

Under direction of City Librarian Samuel Chandler, the library is staffed by Juliana Cheng, who is in charge, Stella Filarski, Claire Showers and Lynn Rash.

The new, larger facility replaces the library at 129 Acacia Avenue, which was acquired by the city of Daly City nine years ago when Bayshore was annexed. It will house 7,000 volumes. Space for off-street parking is available and will be paved in the future.

Skyline Shows 'Michelangelo'

The life and times of Michelangelo are recreated in the Academy Award-winning film "The Titan: Story of Michelangelo," to be shown at Skyline College September 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the main theater.

"The Titan" is the second of three films making up a cinema lecture series about great persons in the history of the arts and presented by the Community Services Office of Skyline this fall.

Balboa Reunion

The spring class of 1958 of Balboa High School in San Francisco will have a 15-year reunion October 20 at the San Mateo Elks Club. More information may be obtained by calling Diane Wilson Johnson, 467-2775.

Western Gear Pattern Line

By MICHELLE CARTER

The horsey set is well entrenched in San Mateo County, and for those who take their riding seriously, dressing to fit the scene is an important part of the gambit.

Western touches on pants and shirts are appropriate for informal riding, but an entire riding costume is necessary for competition events. Judges take the total image of the rider into consideration as well as the form and handing of the animal, so the costume is no trifling matter.

The cost of outfitting the equestrian isn't trifling, either, but, as usual, the rider who sews (or whose mother does) can be costumed in style at a reasonable cost.

The Big Four patterns companies have little to offer in the way of equestrian gear, but there is a California pattern designer who has kept the riding set in mind — and in clothes to fit their life style.

The designer is Jean Hardy, a tailoring and dressmaking instructor at Santa Ana and Tustin High Schools in southern California, and she's onto the eternal formula for success: Find a need and fill it. Her catalogue includes patterns for many casual styles besides western riding gear, but the flavor of all her designs is decidedly Californian.

All her patterns are designed for knit fabrics, and the sleek, close-to-the-body look is an integral part of Jean Hardy styling. All of her shirts, including the yoked western riding shirt, are body shirts that snap in the crotch. She offers a variety of pants styles from the elasticized waist and straight legs to the yoked hip-huggers with front fly and flares to be worn over western boots.

For the female rider who plans to be competing in the show ring, the catalogue offers two "Western Equitation Riding Suits," and the look of both is smooth, unwrinkled and stretchable for moving with the horse.

No. 190 is a two-piece suit with western details on the shirt and pants, and although the pants are hip-huggers with loops to accommodate a wide western belt, the waist is elasticized for comfort and fit.

No. 200 is a one-piece jumpsuit with the same western touches, but it zips up the front so the low-slung belt in the wide loops is just for decoration.

Men haven't been ignored either with a variety of shirts and even a western jacket pattern for men included in the catalogue as well as a slacks design featuring jeans styling with flare legs, back yoke and patch pockets (No. 170).

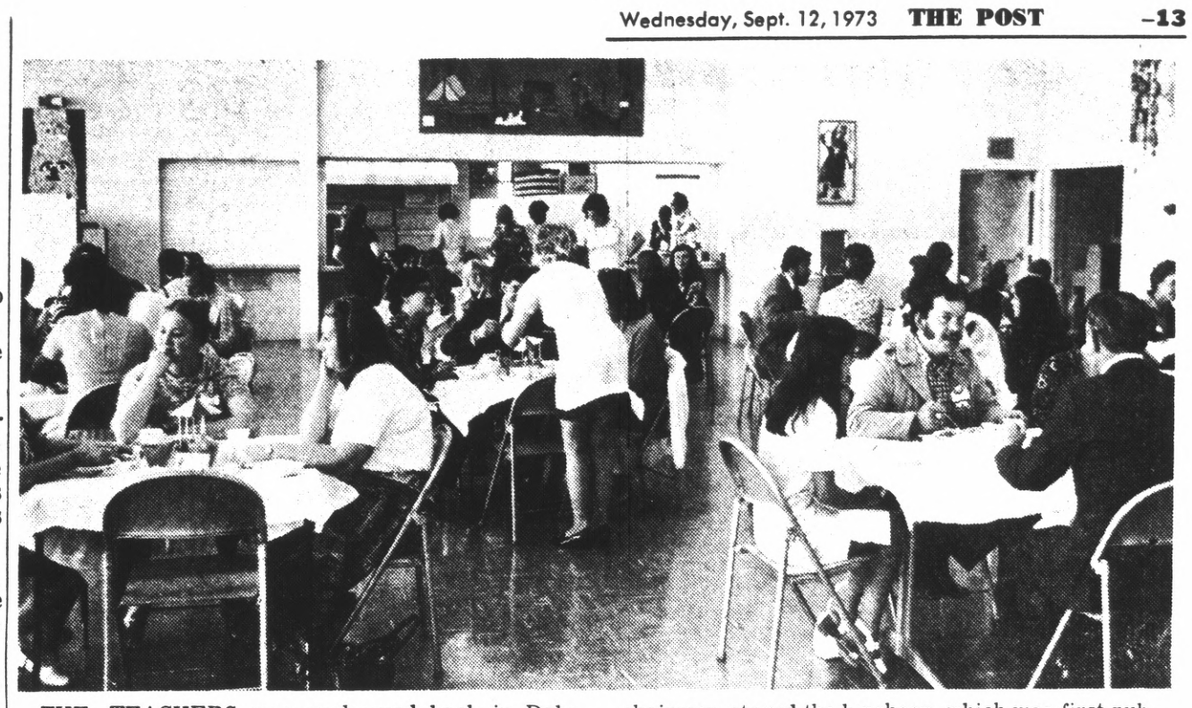
Children get equal treatment with body shirts, hip-huggers, a sailor shirt dress and a T-shirt dress for little girls.

Miss Hardy is wise to still another group with a taste for western wear — the square-dancers. Pattern No. 270 is a complete square-dance wardrobe for women that includes five necklines on a fitted bodice with full circle or extra-full skirt, three vests and puffed sleeves. She even throws in a pattern for Sissy pants that can be fastened to the blouse and snapped in the crotch.

Jean Hardy patterns come in big 9 inch by 12 inch envelopes and are printed on durable white paper stock that can be preserved indefinitely by tracing onto pattern paper.

Because she is a teacher, Miss Hardy has incorporated something into her patterns that the Big Four should take note of: She prints pertinent sewing instructions along the side of cutting lines on the pattern. This allows the sewer to see exactly where a specific instruction should be acted upon the simplifies the construction operation.

According to my information, none of the fabric stores in the area carry the Jean Hardy line at this time, but the catalogue is available upon request to Jean Hardy Patterns, 2151 La Cuesta Drive, Santa Ana, Calif. 92705. Pre-paid direct orders will be filled by mail from the Santa Ana address.



THE TEACHERS were welcomed back in Daly City last week by the Crocker - Pershing - Washington P-TA with a luncheon at the George Washington School cafeteria. The P-TA officers and committee chairmen staged the luncheon, which was first public notice of the unit's carnival at Washington October 26, 27 and 28.

Wedding for Christina Barni

Christina Marie Barni, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barni of Burlingame, was married Saturday afternoon at Our Lady of Angels Catholic Church in that city to John Patrick Shea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Shea of Daly City.

The bride wore a gown of double silk organza with a princess silhouette, a high sheer yoke and long sleeves.

Tonya Helmholtz was the maid of honor, and Terry Lanzone and Mrs. Rod Schwarz, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore Empire gowns with pink bodices embroidered with a pastel pink flower design and pink chiffon skirts.

Andrea Tsiakilos, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She also wore pink and carried a white basket filled with lavender, pink and white baby roses, carnations and Bristol fairy. Danny Shea, nephew of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer.

Michael Shea was his brother's best man, and guests were seated by Rod Schwarz and Thomas Neary.

After a reception at the Franciscan Mobile Country Club, the couple departed for a honeymoon tour that will take them to Carmel and Los Angeles. They will live in Foster City.

Christina attended Mills High School while John attended Jefferson High School and the College of San Mateo. He is studying to become a police officer.

Steven Hochhauser has been named director of physical education with the professional staff of the Brotherhood Way-Jewish Community Center. Hochhauser is a native of New York City and a graduate of Springfield College where he majored in physical education.

This is the first time a PE director has been employed at the center since 1967 and was made possible by a one-year grant from a local foundation.

SSF Adult School Starts Sept. 17

The South San Francisco adult education program will begin its fall semester, both day and evening classes September 17. All registrations will be in the classrooms at the first class sessions.

Courses in the areas of business, crafts, fine arts and music, homemaking, industrial and language arts and parent education are scheduled.

High school diploma courses are available during day and evening hours. Anyone interested in obtaining a high school diploma first must contact the adult education office, 400 B Street, 583-5746, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., to arrrange an appointment with a counselor.

All persons planning to register should include their address, which must be within the South San Francisco Unified School District.

Fall schedules are being mailed to all residents of the district and will be put in local libraries.

Daly City Chamber Plans to Double Size in 3 Years

Daly City Chamber of Commerce President Frank Spadarella has announced an ambitious three-year plan for doubling the organization's membership and "establishing it as one representative of the county's second largest city."

Spadarella, a North County restaurateur, proposed a five department, service - oriented program for the upcoming year.

Chairmen for his newly-created departments are Tony Tyrrell, (Business Development); Vince Merlo (community betterment); Jim Howe (governmental affairs); Al Vial (reorganizational); and Vince Murphy (Chamber Services).

Murphy, retired Daly City postmaster and long active in Chamber affairs, will be assigned to setting up business-oriented monthly meetings for members, inviting experts in various fields to serve on panmembership from the growing business community, Spadarella said.

Bringing the Chamber's activities up to national standards will be Pacific Gas and Electric Company's North County manager Al Vial's job.

Spadarella said he expects Transit District's impact in the city. Howe also will study possible revision and modernization of the Chamber's by-laws, Spadarella said.

Governmental Affairs Committee Chairman Howe, an executive with Pacific Telephone, will keep an eye on the city's redevelopment and rehabilitation project now under study, along with the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's impact in the city. Howe also will study possible revision and modernization of the Chamber's by-laws, Spadarella said.

Bringing the Chamber's activities up to national standards will be Pacific Gas and Electric Company's North County manager Al Vial's job.

Spadarella said he expects Transit District's impact in the city. Howe also will study possible revision and modernization of the Chamber's by-laws, Spadarella said.

Asked if he could reach his goals within the three year time span, Spadarella replied:

"It will not be an easy task and I'll need all the help I can get — from members and the community at large. But you can bet we will get the job done."

Love's Luggage Lost

by LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

The traveler who has never lost his luggage on a plane flight is most fortunate. Most vacations today are limited as to time and to arrive at one's destination, often thousands of miles from home base, to learn that a carefully planned wardrobe is missing completely or has been sent on another flight, often in a different direction, can be a traumatic experience to the most experienced traveler.

Lost baggage should be reported immediately to an airline clerk. There is a chance that it still may be stowed on the plane and if the loss is reported in time the plane could be searched before it took off again.

If not found, the airline representative will fill out a loss or damage report. Each item must be described and the original cost and value given. Do not exaggerate the value.

Airlines usually have three days to locate missing baggage. If it cannot be located your claim will be checked over and the amount to be paid decided upon. It takes about three to four weeks for a claim to be processed, all of which is enough to ruin vacation plans.

Hold on to your baggage check and do not surrender it until you have received your baggage. Some airlines deliver lost baggage and usually the traveler himself will have to return to the airport and pick it up.

On domestic flights the carrier's liability is $500 per fare paying passenger. This means an airline will pay from $1 to $500, depending upon what decision has been made concerning the traveler's claim.

The Civil Aeronautics Board gives the following tips for minimizing the danger of lost baggage:

1. Put your name, address and telephone number on the outside and inside each piece of lost luggage.
2. Lock all luggage.
3. Remove all baggage checks from your luggage after each trip.
4. Baggage decorated with many labels may confuse the baggage handler and may increase the probabilities that your baggage will be sent in the wrong direction. Have only the current trip label on baggage.

Freight Class At Westmoor

Westmoor Adult School, at Westmoor High School in Daly City, will offer a course in freight shipping supervision via common and contract carriers Tuesdays from 7 to 9:45 p.m. starting September 18.

This is an introductory shipping course via motor carriage with some discussion of other modes of transportation for supervisors or potential supervisors.

The course will cover carrier organizational structure, government regulation, bills of lading, damage claims, service requirements, correct freight classification ratings and classification rules except packaging. The National Motor Freight Classification will be used as a text book.

Intrastate California general freight rates will be covered and supplemented with a brief outline. Some mathematical problems will be presented with the latter subjects.

The aim of the course is to give the beginning student a better understanding of freight transportation, how to obtain lower shipping charges and best service possible.

Anyone interested or with any questions should attend the first session in Room 25. Registration will be open till October 2. Registration fee is $1 plus deposit for the classification.

Dodd Baker At Shirt Tail Restaurant, Palo Alto

It was our pleasure to be pioanobar side at the Shirt Tail restaurant in Palo Alto Tuesday night when likeable Dodd Baker made his entertainment return to the Bay Area. After an absence of three years, during which time he toured coast to coast with a long stop-over on the Las Vegas Strip, Dodd will provide some easy listening sounds which should score big with his countless Bay Area fans. The turned-on Tunt-tosser should have a long and happy engagement at this prestigious restaurant . . . Birthday greetings to the Licata family, who celebrate the Twenty-eighth successful anniversary of Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant this month. And that's quite a feat in this day and wage. Since 1945, Vince and his family have been serving the dine-out public with professionalism and the best money can buy in Italian fare and seafood variety . . . The guard at Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is regal, stately, but pretty tame. And we're speaking about the five-hundred year old suit of armor which stands sentry in the lobby of this royally operated restaurant, where guests are treated like kings and queens.

Worldly Atmosphere For Iron Horse Patrons

One of the reasons that the Iron Horse has become one of San Francisco's leading restaurants is the palatable cuisine served in a sophisticated atmosphere. Special gourmet meals are served every day, except Sunday, for both luncheon and dinner. There's a spacious cocktail lounge for before and after-dinner sipping, with hors d'oeuvres served during the cocktail hour. Banquet rooms are also available for special entertaining. . . . Pretty "cowgirls" serve you with a warm, western hospitality at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus restaurant in San Mateo. And this hospitality extends into the lounge, where after-dinner dancing on a Stanless Steel dance floor is the "in" thing these nights. . . . Vocalist Birdie Lee, who headlines in the Deacon Brodie of the Royal Coach Motor Hotel, has been in and around show business most of her life. For the past few years she's been featured at many of the major niteries in San Francisco and surrounding areas. Backing the singing artist during her Royal Coach stint is Classic Edition '73.

HIGHLY ENTERTAINING — Talented Dodd Baker is back in the Bay Area and now presides over the pianobar at the Shirt Tail, in Palo Alto. Baker has a great talent for "feeling" the mood of his listeners and features a wide variety of styles and sounds.

Holiday Reservations Now For Villa Hotel

Celebrations and receptions are filling the Villa Hotel's reservation book for the coming Holiday months. If you have something planned for the festive season, good idea to get your reservations in early, too. Rosemarie at the piano, and the Charlie Blackwell Trio (from 9 p.m.) produce some excellent musical sounds in the Villa Lounge. For 24-hour dining service and a menu filled with specialties, drop in the Villa Coffee House any time of the day. It's a humming center where families gather, business men chat over deals and current events, theater-goers feast before curtain-time and drop in for snacking after the shows, and club owners stop by after closing to relax . . . Besides the regular a la carte luncheon menu featured at the exotic Castaway, Covote Point, the chefs also prepare a lavish buffet table where patrons may help themselves during the luncheon hours. Another enticement here is the daily fashion shows. Tuesdays through Fridays, featuring beautiful models and fashions from Ron's Hawaiian.

Balkan Village Features Famed Balkanci Group

Balkanci, a fabulous dance and music group who perform middle Eastern dances, are featured at the Balkan Village in Los Altos throughout September. Wednesdays through Sunday nights the six women and three men delight with dances of Turkey, Armenia, Assyria, Lebanon and other countries. They have been featured at the Villa Montalvo Summer Balkan Festival, many Greek festivals, and various lunches, dinners, churches and parties from San Jose to Santa Rosa. No cover charge for the performances, given each night, two on Fridays and Saturdays . . . Dynaflow, a five-piece group from San Francisco, is entertaining in the Flight Time Lounge of the Airport Plaza Hotel, in Millbrae. Hotel General Manager Doyle Perry says the band will provide Top 40 dance sounds from 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights for at least a week . . . Mega will present the Friday and Saturday night dance sounds this weekend at the Band Stand, in Redwood City. A number of the Bay Area's top groups are being signed to appear in concert here in the future.

Greenhouse Restaurant Luncheon Dinner Daily

Lehr's Greenhouse restaurant and florist, Murry Lehr's spectacularly successful garden restaurant on Sutter Street in San Francisco, now has continuous food service for luncheon, dinner and late supper 'til midnight, seven days a week. It's a popular cost-theater dining spot for the stars and cast of stage shows appearing at the nearby Curran and Geary Theaters . . . Whenever Reno Donati discusses the homemade soups served at the New Southern restaurant, he becomes even more garrulous. After a non-stop description of their qualities, the South San Francisco restaurant co-owner flatly states that their soups rank with the best found anywhere . . . Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn, in South San Francisco, appears to be a major headquarters for professional athletes. Several rookies attending the Warriors' basketball camp are making the Holiday Inn their home while in the Bay Area . . . Leo Martay, owner of the Whistle Stop and the adjacent Famous Recipe Fried Chicken outlet, in Belmont, also does outside catering. You name the occasion — Leo and his crew can provide the food and drinks.

Helen Botelho Fronts Finocchio's Bandstand

Helen Botelho, who, for the past 17 seasons, has been directing the music for all the shows at Finocchio's, is celebrating another year of conducting. Among the group to provide musical accompaniment are Dave Black, a drum virtuoso formerly with Duke Ellington's Orchestra, and Eddie Gorman on the saxophone. Helen has come to know many of the greats of the entertainment world during her years with Finocchio's, a world-famed club featuring female impersonators . . . Vince Russo will soon debut another first-rate dinner house. It wasn't so long ago that he spent considerable time and money in remodeling his Russo's Distillery in San Bruno. The business results have been so gratifying that Vince is opening another establishment in Burlingame . . . Sunday night's concert at Whiskey Hill, in Burlingame, will feature a band composed of several outstanding musicians formerly with such well-known groups as Ike and Tina Turner, Santana, and the Chambers Brothers. A sell out crowd is expected. Headlining Tuesdays through Saturdays is Bishop.

Winery Restaurant Coming To Foster City

The Winery restaurants, which include a carafe of good California burgundy with the price of every meal, open their newest location in Foster City this week. Gala pre-opening cocktail parties are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, September 12, 13 and 14. Complimentary hors d'oeuvres and entertainment will be featured during the open houses to be held from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. each day. The public is invited. A ribbon-cutting ceremony with Foster City officials and civic dignitaries will open the festivities at 4 p.m., September 12. The restaurant, at 1998 Beach Park Blvd., will serve lunches weekdays starting September 17, with dinner service seven days beginning September 15. The cocktail lounge will feature nightly entertainment. Manager Bud Olsen invites you to order from their menu of steak, lobster, rack of lamb, Teriyaki chicken, carb, fancy sandwiches and visit the Gourmet Salad Bar . . . Weekend fun tip: Catch the music and dance action at The Putter in Burlingame. Currently appearing is Our Father's Sons.

Bruno's Hub Of Mission District

When things happen in the Mission District they're usually shipped up and carried out at Bruno's. This great restaurant, over the years, has established itself as headquarttrs for anything important going on. Management, plus a skilled staff, has accounted for this magnetic pull toward their front doors. Food, service, congeniality and sensible prices have contributed toward the whole package . . . For the home games during football season, the Costa Brava restaurant will provide transportation to Candlestick Park from the restaurant and return. Tickets to the game are included. Buses leave at 12:30 and return to the restaurant, where free parking is provided. The $11 charge also includes a drink of your choice. Phone Manager Warren Halpin now for your reservation . . . Frank Martinelli says the Sunday Brunch served at his Tiki Garden every Sunday compares to the best on the Peninsula and carries a smaller tab. "We also have special prices and treats for children," commented the energetic restaurateur who also owns the adjacent Beach House.

A WEEKLY MEETING of the Mervyn's buying committee sees buyer Barbara Garcia present a full length, multi-colored patio dress in bright floral design. The entire committee will consider the advisability of its inclusion in Mervyn's stock. Mervyn's president, John Kilmartin, is seated at the head of the table, left.

New DC Dept. Store Buyers Busy

Buyers at Mervyn's department stores travel well over a million miles annually to keep in touch with the latest fashions and the best buys. With a new Mervyn's opening in the Serramonte Shopping Center at the intersection of Highway One and Interstate 280 in Daly City, it is appropriate to see what these travels mean to the shopper.

Merchandising is not an exact science. It takes people with experience and a knack to find the right fashion, the best quality and the best price.

The buying is done, naturally, in the stores' specialties: Clothing, shoes and accessories for the family and yardage, linens, domestics, curtains and draperies. The buyers are looking for name brands, such as Cannon, Levis, Jantzen and for their own promotionally-priced private labels. When considering private labels, the policy is to look for suppliers in the following order of preference: Their already-stocked name brand suppliers, other quality name brand suppliers and overseas suppliers.

The 27 Mervyn's buyers, 12 of whom are women, travel a million miles a year from their San Lorenzo headquarters.

Buyers of basics, such as underwear or socks, aren't quite the gadabouts as are the buyers of fashion items. It often is possible to make a yearly commitment with a manufacturer of basics. This way the manufacturer can project his production over a period of time and, consequently, offer Mervyn's a better price. However, these basics buyers do take to the road, or as merchandisers say, "go into market," at least three times a year.

Fashion being a trendy, changing thing, the sportswear buyer, for example, may be in Los Angeles once a week or New York City every other month.

The Mervyn buying staff also is in constant contact with independent buying offices in Los Angeles, Miami and New York City. These people are "in the market" on a daily basis and continually relay information to Mervyn's San Lorenzo headquarters.

Buyers are always on the lookout for "opportunistic purchases." Usually seasonal merchandise is purchased long before the season opens. Sometimes at the beginning of a season, a manufacturer needs to move that stock from his warehouse to make room for the coming season's stock. If, after thorough consideration, a buyer believes this stock is up to standards it can be purchased at considerable saving to the customer during the season for which itwas intended.

Another vital source of information for the buyer is the individual store director who sends daily reports on what sells, what additional stocks are needed and what customers have suggested back to buying headquarters. Stock information is posted on a computer. The computer keeps track of over 600 items by store, classification, price, style, size and color. When stocks get low, the buyer gets more, fast.

To help the merchandising effort, Mervyn's employs a unique advertising approach. Every week a tabloid shopping news is produced, resulting in over 1,500 pages of advertising a year, distributed to over two million people. Through this coverage, Mervyn's can advertise merchandise from every department weekly. Another promotional activity is the weekly special sale item in every department.

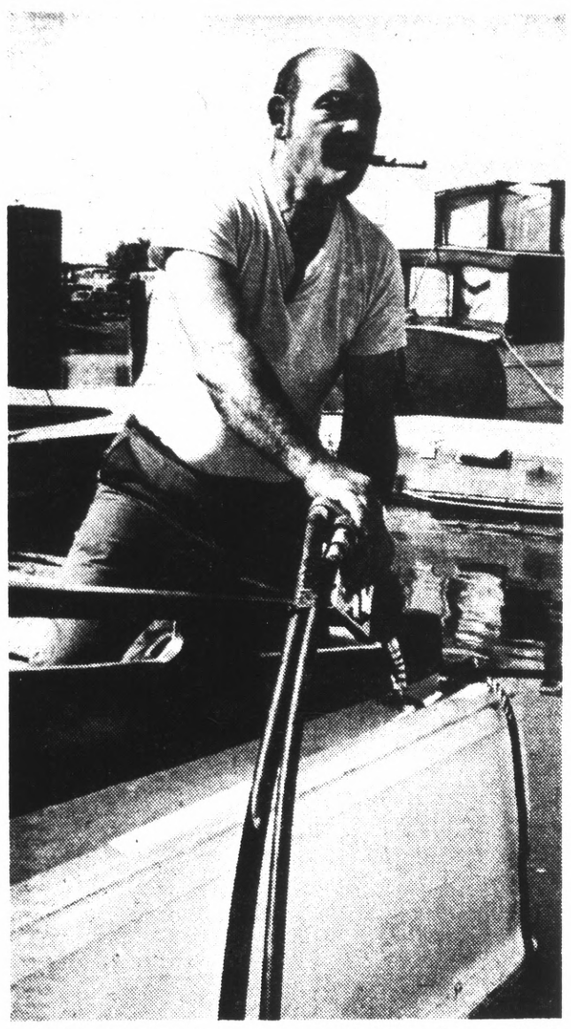
Feature Page



THE EXPLOSION that might have followed this refueling operation at Oyster Point Marina is the type of thing safe boating classes are designed to prevent. Here, O. Zampatti of South San Francisco demonstrates (with an unlit cigar, naturally) what a potential disaster looks like when a good smoke and an open fuel line come close together.

HOW MANY violations of safe boating rules are there in this picture? Oyster Point Marina ramp employe Paul Delander demonstrated one by standing up in a boat and compounding the mistake by attempting to start a motor while standing. To make potential tragedy complete, the five-passenger boat was overloaded with eight persons, including five children who had no lifejackets, as required. To help avoid these errors, the Sequoia Power Squadron is offering a safe boating class of approximately 12 weeks, covering all the fundamentals of seamanship and boat handling. The session starts at 7:30 p.m. Monday, September 17 at both Aragon High School in San Mateo and Cubberly High in Palo Alto. The squadron has urged new boat owners and those planning to operate small recreational craft to sign up. The only cost is less than $10 for materials. Signups are at the first class meeting. Further information may be obtained by calling Lt. Cmdr. Eric Sitzesatter, the squadron executive officer, at 854-2982.

AN UNEXPECTED drifting away could result from this incorrectly tied line, something every boatman should watch carefully. These things don't happen when boat owners know what they're doing and pay attention to this most basic phase of boating. Chasing a wayward boat isn't considered great sport.

Tough Decisions in The Baseball's Meat Market

Le Pacini

Thinking

THOUGHS ON BOBBY RIGGS:

If Bobby Riggs were a baseball pitcher he'd throw the spitter . . . If he were a football player he'd have been Frankie Albert . . . If he were a boxer he would have been Joey Maxim . . . If he had chosen to be a pool player that fat guy from Minnesota never would have gotten fat.

Maybe Riggs would be more appropriately described as the Rip Sewell of tennis. You remember Sewell. He was the guy who threw the Blooper Ball. You might also remember what Ted Williams did to Sewell's Blooper Ball in the 1946 All-Star game.

Will Billie Jean King be Riggs' Ted Williams? Or will she be his Margaret Court?

Now that Dave Kingman is going good and Ed Goodson has given hints of being injury-prone, will it be he, rather than Kingman, who will go in an off-season trade?

DON'T COMPLETELY count out the possibility. Goodson has awfully bad legs for such an awfully young man and Giant management could be wondering what they'll be like when Goodson is Willie McCovey's age. On the other hand it's hard to get value out of a man — no matter how sweet his swing — who has questional joints. And if he can prove the joints aren't questionable, why trade him?

Which may leave Willie McCovey, who we would hate to see go, but who could rejuvenate himself as an American League designated hitter and bring the Giants that good southpaw they've been needing.

ON THE OTHER HAND, even though Kingman is hitting again, even though he is much faster than Goodson, can run the bases better, is more versatile and is, in our opinion, a better defensive third baseman, he may be better able to fetch a good lefty than either McCovey or Goodson.

Look to Boston, who would love to see Kingman taking shots at that short but high left field wall with his long, high flies, and whose third baseman, Rico Petrocelli, has not only had leg surgery, but threatened to retire at the end of this year even before the leg surgery.

And then check the Red Sox roster and take note that on it are five, count 'em, FIVE left-handed pitchers, including Bill Lee, who is so good he may become the first southpaw to win 20 in Boston since Mel Parnell did it 20 years ago; Rogelio Moret, a very promising rookie; and John Curtis, hit with a "sophomore jinx" this year, but who won 11 in a partial season as a rookie last year.

SO WE'RE RIGHT BACK to where we started; trading Kingman. We think it would be a mistake, because Kingman is a potential super star. That is a word bandied about too much these days. An athlete has a good year, or even half a good year and he's being called a super star even if he can't do anything but hit singles.

A true super star in baseball should be someone who can do it all and do it well. If Kingman ever learns to hit even .275 we think he would qualify because he can hit with mighty power, run, throw and field.

All of the above gives you an idea of why good trades are so difficult to make, and so perilous.

LAST WEEK WE ACCUSED Giant rookie leftfielder Gary Matthews of being an erratic fielder, which he is. But he shouldn't be, because he can do the one thing that even many experienced outfielders can't do — go back well on a ball. What makes him erratic is that he has trouble doing just about the easiest thing an outfielder has to do. Come in on the ball.

LAST YEAR IT was Matty Alou who signed with the A's late in the season and helped spark them to a pennant. This year it's his younger brother, Jesus Alou. Felipe Alou should be just about finished with the Yankees next year. Do you suppose . . .

FLASH: Gus Triandos, former Mission High, Yankee and Oriole great, now is scouting this area for the Dodgers.

STATISTICAL CORNER: With all the fancy offensive statistics a team can accrue, the most important one is still run scored — unless, of course, you have a pitching staff like Atlanta's. The Braves lead the world in every offensive statistic and still can't win

But, as they say, all things being equal (meaning reasonably good pitching), if a team can score — in any way — it's going to win.

CINCINNATI IS an excellent example of a team without impressive offensive stats except runs scored. Cincy is only fifth in the NL in team batting average, tied for sixth in homers, but is second in scoring behind only the Braves.

Kansas City, still in the AL race, is fourth in hitting, eighth in homers, but leads the league in scoring and is second in scoring runs only to Atlanta in all of baseball.

For contrast, look at the Yankees, a collapsed team. They are still third in the AL in hitting, seventh in homers but eighth in runs scored.

PHILADELPHIA ROOKIE OUTFIELDER Mike Rogodzinski is one of those oddities in baseball — like the Giants' Jimmy Howarth — who hits better as a pinch-hitter than as a regular. Latest stats show him hitting .063 as a starter, .462 as a pinch-hitter.

LOCAL NOTES: Two former Terra Nova athletes, John Racanelli and Norm Lacy, reportedly are doing well down at USC for the Trojan football team. Racanelli has, at last reports, been number two quarterback behind starter Pat Haden,while Lacy, a 240-pound lineman, has a good chance to make the traveling squad. And they're only sophomores!

DOUGLAS AND MICHIKO DAWKINS, a brother and sister trampoline act from Pacifica who were once successful swimming competitors, recently took second places at their specialty at the AAU Junior Olympics in Ann Arbor, Mich., an event which was aired on the CBS Sports Spectacular.

Douglas, 10, and Michiko, 12, just previously had been involved in international competition is London, where Douglas had taken firsts in trampoline and mini-tramp and second in tumbling and Michiko had placed in trampoline.

And also in Pacifica, Mark and Don Lauer grabbed the first place trophy in the recent father-son golf tournament at Sharp Park.

FOOTBALL QUIZ OF THE WEEK:

1. Two of the most famous brother combinations in pro football are defensive linemen. Can you name the brothers who play for Dallas and Oakland, respectively, and the two who play in the same defensive front for the Los Angeles Rams?

2. Who was the first lineman to be selected No. 1 in the NFL player draft?

ANSWERS:

1. Tody Smith, Dallas, Bubba, Oakland; Phil and Merlin Olsen, LA.

2. Ki Aldrich of Texas Christian, picked by the Chicago Cardinals in 1939. (Draft started in 1936.)

On Fashion

So what's new? Fashion! Ladies fashion is in the news.

"REAL CLOTHES" — that's the catch word, and "Back to the dress." After the prolonged pants period it's "mobile, knee-clearing skirts" and beltless dresses, look of softness" with shoulders a little broader and "The waistless wonder is back." There will be "the tops bulkier. "They're clothes to be comfortable in, to move with the body."

Listing the catch words for the fashion world, the New York Times writes, "Glow, gleam, glitter, sparkle plenty." Metallic thread will be used by the yards so, "There's gold, there's silver and there's even bronze, knitted to be sure, with plain old black, brown, gray for this year's basic rust. But no matter how you color it, the shimmer is there."

WOMEN'S FASHION! That's the news — bigger than Watergate or curbing inflation, so big it occupies a whole issue of the New York Times Magazine.

"Latter day sweater girls needn't be upset. There's plenty of pow left in the sweater look." Designer Victor Joris envisions women strolling down the Fifth Avenues or Main Streets of the world next fall clad in long torso sweaters, pleated skirts and voluminous capes.

He thinks men will turn to admire women with the "put-together look." Maybe a woman in a long cable-knit sweater coat, lavished with fur and in a pleated skirt or fitted pants.

"I can't wait until I get into a skirt," writes designer Anne Klein. "I've been wearing pants for the last two years." So she is looking forward to "showing her legs again." She'll be clad in dark stockings to match her shoes, slimmer oxfords with two-inch heels.

FOR EVENING WEAR? Well, let the reporter tell it. "After the casual restraint of daytime clothes, the time the designers go haywire is, naturally enough, at night. And the way they do it is with yards of sequins or thin gauzy fabrics . . .

"The current high voltage dresses bear little relation to the stiffly tailored brocades everybody wore to weddings and balls ten years ago. They're supple, soft affairs that cling to the body or float around it like tents or caftans.

"To add to the pure, utter frivolity, designers haul out the long fox boa again or, better still, add one of ostrich feathers. They balance it all on high heel sandals made of strips of shining leather or satin."

So that's what's new — women in women's clothes again. It'll be a great season for girl watchers.

A season, writes a reporter, to "Drop in for a drink and let's not talk about the economy. The subject most cheerful is the hostess in a red circle of a dress with full sleeves and sashed lightly."

The Return of Beef And Other Matters

Thank heaven — beef is back. It made such a messy status symbol. Last week, the most. My wife was sitting at the hairdresser when a male head popped in and asked if anyone wanted to buy steaks.

Political money is now harder to come by than ever. Donors are fearful that giving equals indictment, or at least investigation. This, of course, is just not so. The rules are easy enough. Those who want to make a donation should avoid cash gifts, keep within legal limits, and announce the gift to the world at the time it is made.

The patents on those steel plates used to cover street holes must be held by tire manufacturers.

Romantic places. Recollection of arrival at the Amsterdam airport, and glancing at the illuminated board showing recently arrived flights: "Paris, London, Prague, Vienna, Geneva, Berlin, Oakland, Madrid . . ."

Fascism and Communism in power are the same thing. Authoritarianism, and a ruling elite. The only differences seem to exist during the courting period. Fascism festers and grows on the prejudices and passions of the middle and upper classes. Communism on the prejudices and passions of the masses. Both end up tricking their original sponsors, and promoting the interest of a powerful few.

Is anything beyond corruption? With investigations touching just about every institution, the final blow had to be the Soap Box Derby. Say it isn't so.

America's teeming strength has many faces. Just as the last competitive advantages of production line genius are phasing out, we find agricultural production as a new foundation of world trade and favorable exchange balances. Farming and high first generation technology (e.g. new planes, computers etc. before foreign imitation) are the big factors in our foreign trade future.

Cholera. Little wonder — one bilious look at Europe's sick rivers is enough to suggest this and worse. Perhaps we should export some environmentalists.

Inflation — President and Congress blame one another, but even if they act in concert we are in for more. This is the legacy of "guns and butter," and also of price structures and competitive demands in other countries. The problem can be helped by government action, but the real pressures are beyond the reach of any one nation. Inflation is not an American phenomenon, it is a world condition.

Candidates. 1974 should harvest a bumper crop of new, fresh faces. In the present milieu-wheeler-dealers are in for a rough time, and the electoral advantage of incumbency will be diminished. This trend will be especially marked in California which has a new political map.

There is an old saying among political professionals that "you have to believe the polls." The recent polls concerning the governorship, however, boggle the mind. Those in the know in both parties were surprised by the intra and inter party percentages. Without doubt, the field work was done professionally, and with a representative sample. But polling so early, and in hypothetical, rather than actual races, is a touchy business. The fact is that public attitudes have not fully jelled, and that there will be substantial shifting in coming weeks. First good test will be after filing early next year.

How short must oil and gas become before some political types will admit there is a shortage?

Tax Initiative battle has only two months to go. It will be furiously fought. Start with an unbelievably complex state financial structure. Add an initiative that, of necessity, is equally intricate. Then mix with a report of A. Alan Post, the legislative analyst, that includes some arguable points, and some objections that merely and unnecessarily confuse. These circumstances will make it difficult for the average voter to concentrate on the real issue — whether limitation is desirable or not.

The Post gives its columnists a great deal of latitude, offering its readers the benefit of knowledgeable, varying opinion. Their opinions are not necessarily those of The Post which addresses itself to its readers only through clearly marked editorials.

Fair Has Great Impact on SM Economy

The current economic impact of the San Mateo County Fair has been reported co-incidental with the circulation of a privately done study indicating that California state and local fairs constitute the 59th largest industry in the state.

The study puts the California Fair industry above such leading state industrial companies as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Co., Kaiser Cement & Gypsum Corp., Technicolor Inc., Denny's Inc. and other commonly-known names.

Prepared by Security Pacific National Bank, the two-volume report said the 77 fairs in the state generate more than $159 million in transactions during the year and contribute an estimated $617 million to $795 million to the gross state product. It also said that fairs account for twice as much in taxes as the $8 million government spends in their support.

"Approximately 13 million people and an estimated 4000 organizations used state-wide fair facilities last year," the study said. "The 13 million people account for almost two-thirds of the California population." The survey, now under study by the Joint Legislative Committee on Fairs Allocation and Classification in Sacramento, was instigated two years ago by the Western Fairs public relations committee headed by Sal Millan, general manager of the San Mateo County Fair.

This industry-wide survey is expected to be supplemented in 1974 by individual fair surveys embracing specific local attitudes and related information.

Asked to make interim comments on how the San Mateo County Fair contributes to the local economy, the following statistics were provided by Emil Stiefvater, Fair Board president and Guido J. Rozzi, Fair Board racing director.

Fair expenditures alone pumped $579,000 into the county's general economy and tax coffers during the 1972-73 period. This went for payroll (the fair employs 119 people at fair-time), equipment and supplies, capital improvements and outside services.

This breaks down as follows: Administrative expense $97,000; maintenance $185,000; promotion $23,000; attendance operation $43,000; premiums $66,000; exhibit expense $49,000; attractions $54,000 and capital expense $62,000.

Augmenting this, Stiefvater points out, are revenues from non-fair rentals. Rentals for the first 8 months are up 10 per cent over last year, when the fairgrounds was in use 769 event-days (sometimes as many as five different rentals in one day); attended by approximately 225,270 visitors (an estimated 20 per cent bringing in new money from out-of-county), and produced $73,955 in rental revenues.

Interim events covered everything from college reunions to weddings, from antique shows to club meetings.

In discussing the economic stimulation prompted by the San Mateo County Fair, Stiefvater referred to the "multiplier factor" involved here. The multiplier takes into consideration the flow of funds beyond the original generation of those funds. For example, if $1 is placed in circulation it becomes wages or cost of goods for one man or company who in turn spends it on wages or goods to another, ad infinitum.

The Security-Pacific statewide survey indicates that total sales generated by fairgrounds were over $159 million. The stimulus also provided by fair activities to outside business is estimated between $50 to $75 million for a total fund generation of between $209 and $234 million annually.

DETECTIVE Rough and Bella Manningham, played by Barry Jacobs and Estelle Novello, respectively, discover the missing jewelry in the Pacifica Spindrift Players' production of "Gaslight" at the Oddstad Park Playhouse on Crespi Drive in Pacifica. The play continues its run this Friday and Saturday and September 21 and 22 at 8:30 p.m.

Playschool At YMCA

New creative playschool sessions for pre-school children will begin September 17 at the Golden West Family YMCA. Classes are at the agency's facility at 333 Eucalyptus Drive in the Stonestown Shopping Center.

Pre-school sessions Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday mornings are available for boys and girls three through five years of age.

The classes provide the child with the opportunity to become socially adjusted to a new environment while helping him learn new skills. Pre-School consists of half-day gym, rhythm, story-telling and a creative arts program.

Pre-Kindergarten sessions are also available at the YMCA for children four through five years of age Monday and Wednesday afternoons. They include beginning lesson work with numbers and letters.

More information may be had by calling the YMCA at 731-1900.

Late Signups At Skyline

Registration for Skyline College classes with openings will be continued until September 21, it has been announced.

The fall semester at Skyline opens September 11. Registrations will be closed for classes which reach capacity, as some already have, a spokesman said.

Late registrants should check at the administration and records office for available openings.

PG&E Lists J. B. Black Scholarships

High school seniors attending school or residing in Pacific Gas and Electric Company's northern and central California service area can apply now for PG&E's James B. Black scholarship program. The deadline for filing applications is October 31, it has been announced.

Each year, 16 outstanding seniors are awarded $4,000 college scholarships, payable at $1,000 per year while attending an accredited college or university. The 32 runners-up in the program each will receive a $500 one time scholarship award.

Application forms and booklets giving full details are available through high school counseling services and local PG&E offices.

The program was established in 1966 in memory of the late James B. Black, long-time chairman of the board and president of PG&E, to encourage high scholastic achievement.

Twelve of the 16 scholarships are awarded on a geographical basis. Two are awarded in area-wide competition to minority students recommended by high school principals and counselors for having made significant achievements despite economic, environmental or motivational disadvantages. The two remaining awards are set aside for sons and daughters of PG&E employees.

French Art Series Due

Beginning September 19 at 7 p.m. in the Millbrae Library Community Room, the Gay Paree of the 1800's will come alive in a six-part series about "The Romance of French Art" which will take you into the heart of Paris.

Using the Norton Simon Collection of French Art currently in San Francisco, Instructor Doris Fox instructs about the paintings, the artists, their lives and loves.

Enrollment fee is $7.50 and one unit of college credit is available (Art 149). Application blanks on Community Service brochures are located in libraries throughout north San Mateo county.

RAY PARKIN, major award chairman and Nick Yeatrakeas discuss Mater Dolorosa's major award held in conjunction with the Parish Festival. The festival will be Sept. 14, 15 and 16 at the church grounds, Willow and Miller avenues, South San Francisco. Tickets are available at the rectory.

Daly City Gets BART November 5; Full Service Now Months Away

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Better late than never might be a suitable comment regarding the delayed start of Bay Area Rapid Transit service to Daly City.

The new date, as announced by San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto yesterday, is now November 5, 1973.

But the mayor qualified this by explaining BART would not provide the anticipated 32,500 daily commuters in the Daly City-Downtown San Francisco corridor with "full" service—at least not for another six months.

Instead, BART will run regular commuter service between eight westbay stations, terminating at Daly City.

No trains will connect the East Bay with San Francisco or Daly City through the trans-bay tube until the Public Utilities Commission finds all "bugs" are completely out of the automated switching and control system.

Regardless of the limited service, Mayor Alioto, along with Daly City officials will stage gala "opening day festivities" all along the line, starting on Nov. 3.

Chairmen of the local event is Daly City restaurateur and president of the Chamber of Commerce, Frank (Toto) Spadarella, and Daly City Councilman McRobert Stewart.

Together, Spadarella and Stewart have mapped out plans for a huge bar-b-que complete with music, songs and speeches at the parking lot of the Daly City BART terminal on Knowles Avenue.

Originally the date for the opening of BART service to Daly City, and all the celebration, was September 22.

Even this date was two years later than the original schedule had called for.

The train will travel the 7.5-mile route between Montgomery street station in downtown San Francisco and Daly City in 13 minutes at a cost of 35 cents. It will cost 30 cents to ride between stations.

The trains will be in service between 6 a.m. and 8 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. There was no schedule announced for weekend, holiday or around-the-clock service, anticipated later.

First schedules call for four trains to run along the line—mostly in a subway. Safety observers will be posted at intervals along the line to insure trains are operating properly, a BART spokesman said.

Later, BART and the San Francisco muni system are expected to work out some sort of "one cost" transfer agreement for passengers who use BART and the muni system.

There are no storage yards as yet in the Westbay area and it was expected the Daly City terminus, with its multiple tracks, would provide parking for trains at the outset of service.

Daly City's station is longer than most other stations along the line and has three tracks.

On Saturday, Nov. 3, the public can ride BART free after special ceremonies are held in San Francisco.

Boy Hurt in DC Hit-Run

A 4-year-old Daly City boy, victim of a hit and run driver while playing near his home Thursday afternoon, was reported in very serious condition at Mary's Help Hospital with head injuries.

He was in the intensive care unit of the hospital.

Police are looking for witnesses to the accident. Anyone having further information on the matter is asked to contact police.

Hebrew Classes

Hebrew classes will start Sept. 10 and 11 at the Beth-Israel Judea Temple on Brotherhood Way. Sunday classes begin Sept. 16, at A. P. Giannini Junior High School. Information may be obtained by calling the Temple office, 586-8833.

'Glassart' At Skyline

Beginners will learn glass techniques by means of individual workshop projects in Skyline College's "Glassart" course, starting September 19 at 7 p.m. in the Pacific Heights Elementary School multi-purpose room across from the college campus.

Instruction includes how to design, cut, lead and solder a glass piece. The $30 fee includes all materials, glass and lead.

Instructor Leslie Papper studied stained glass design and construction, painting and etching at the University of California, and is producing commissioned pieces.

DC Policemen Arrest Escapee

Daly City police have arrested an escapee from the San Mateo County Honor Camp at La Honda at a local motel.

Arrested without struggle Wednesday was Ronald Lee Turner, 20, who two days ago walked away from the camp, police said.

When apprehended he was allegedly in possession of a car stolen in the Redwood City area. He was charged with escape, car theft and possession of stolen property.

Satisfying Those After-School Appetites

By PHYLLIS HANES
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Active youngsters can become absolutely ravenous waiting for the supper call. One of the best between-meal appetite pleasers is a cold beverage and a generous slice of chocolate orange bread with orange glaze. It is a good "homework break" or a quick pick-me-up for strenuous after-school play activities.

Orange juice and rind combined in the dough give this bread-like cake its flavor and character. Chocolate morsels add an extra measure of taste. The colorful orange glaze is a breeze to prepare. Just mix orange juice with confectioners' sugar.

This orange-chocolate cake freezes very well, so make two or three loaves at a time and store them.

Oatmeal cookies have been a special favorite for generations. To vary this traditional cookie, add undiluted, concentrated frozen orange juice to the cookie mixture. As an extra touch transform the cookies into "happy faces" by dabbing on a handful of raisins or chocolate morsels to make a nose, eyes, and mouth. It's great fun at birthday parties and picnics.

More than one mother has been tempted to put a lock on the cookie jar after sugar cookies have been sampled. For a taste that's different, try blending undiluted frozen orange-juice concentrate into the cookie batter.

Citrus drinks can be as much fun as a three-ring circus — especially when they're part of the fixings for a frosty super orange soda. Put a couple of scoops of vanilla ice cream in a tall glass, spoon some undiluted orange-juice concentrate over the ice cream, pour in ginger ale, and mix.

CHOCOLATE ORANGE BREAD

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup chopped nuts
3 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 package (1 cup) semisweet chocolate morsels
1 egg
1¼ cups orange juice
2 tablespoons salad oil

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, and spices into large bowl. Stir in nuts, orange rind, and chocolate morsels. Beat egg in small bowl; beat in orange juice and salad oil. Add to flour mixture; mix well. Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake in 300 degrees F. oven for one hour and 15 minutes, until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool. Drizzle orange glaze over top of loaf. If desired, garnish with orange slices. Makes one loaf.

ORANGE GLAZE

2 cups confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons orange juice

Mix confectioners' sugar and orange juice until smooth and creamy.

CHOCOLATE OATMEAL COOKIES

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon allspice
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
3 tablespoons frozen orange-juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
3 tablespoons grated orange rind
3 cups quick oats, uncooked
semisweet chocolate morsels or raisins

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice, and cloves; set aside. Cream shortening with sugars; beat in eggs, one at a time. Add undiluted orange concentrate. Blend in dry ingredients and stir in orange rind and oats. Drop level tablespoons of batter 2 inches apart on a greased baking sheet. Make faces with chocolate morsels or raisins. Bake in 375 degrees F. oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes four dozen cookies.

ORANGE SUGAR COOKIES

1h2m ½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon orange-juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup sugar mixed with 2 tablespoons grated orange rind

Blend in undiluted orange concentrate and grated rind. Sift together flour and baking powder, and blend into creamed mixture. Wrap in waxed paper and refrigerate for three hours. Roll out on lightly floured surface to 2-inch thickness. Cut with a 2-inch cookie cutter. Place on greased baking sheet and sprinkle with sugar mixed with orange rind. Bake in 375 degrees F. over for 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 5 dozen cookies.

SUPER ORANGE SODA

2 tablespoonse orange-juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
2 scoops vanilla ice cream
1 bottle (6 ounces) ginger ale, chilled

Pour undiluted ora concentrate over ice cream in a 10-ounce glass. Add chilled ginger ale and stir until slightly mixed. Serves one.

ORANGES add flavor to snack foods such as oatmeal cookies, plain sugar cookies, cool drinks and a special nut bread.

CHICKEN IN PARADISE

6 chicken breasts, skinned, boned, and pounded thin — as for scallopine
¼ cup olive oil
4 tablespoons butter
6 cloves of garlic cut in half
2 medium size bay leaves
½ teaspoon dried thyme
Salt and pepper, to taste
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
2 tablespoons California brandy
½ cup chicken stock

In a large skillet, heat the oil and butter and add the garlic, bay leaves, thyme, salt and pepper. When the mixture is sizzling, add the chicken breasts and cook for 4 to 7 minutes — depending on the size and thickness of the meat. When done, remove to a warm platter and place in a warm oven. Now add the vinegar and the brandy to the skillet, cook for 2 minutes, then add the chicken stock. Scrape loose all the brown bits in the bottom of the pan, mixing the suace well. Strain through a fine mesh tea strainer and pour over the chicken breasts. Serves 6.

BRANDY BARBECUE SAUCE

1 cup dry red wine
½ cup California brandy
1 cup olive oil
½ tablespoon salt
1 large red onion, grated
1 large clove of garlic, crushed
Pinch each of pepper, tarragon, and thyme

Mix all ingredients together in a small bowl. Cover and refrigerate for 24 hours, then use for basting chops, steaks, roast — whatever you like to barbeque.

ALL ADVERTISED MEAT ITEMS ARE OFFERED FOR SALE SUBJECT TO AVAILABILITY FROM OUR SUPPLIERS. ADVERTISED BEEF PRICES ARE EFFECTIVE ONLY IF THE BEEF PRICE CEILINGS REMAIN IN EFFECT. SHOULD THE BEEF CEILINGS BE REMOVED, WE MAY BE FORCED TO CHANGE RETAIL PRICES IN LINE WITH CHANGES IN WHOLESALE COSTS DURING THE PERIOD THAT THIS AD IS EFFECTIVE.

Uncle Sam helps us prove that food cost less at Mayfair last week than at 8 other top chains

RETAIL FOOD PRICE COMPARISONS

Low-Price Chain H	66	45.12	47.52	2.40

Again last week, we compared food prices with the major supermarkets in this area.

"Specials", "total discount", and most other kinds of prices were compared. In this survey of August 31, Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than eight other top supermarket chains'.

To try to be fair, the comparisons were again with Uncle Sam's list, the same full list of items that the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, uses every month to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

These comparisons show you could have saved from $.71 to $8.06 on the same $50 worth of basic foods in this list.

With the high cost of living these days, really, can you afford not to buy your food at Mayfair?

SM Highway Project Bids Opened

The California Department of Transportation has opened bids on seven projects. Contracts will be awarded by the department after verification of bids.

Two of the projects are in San Mateo County.

One is revising of existing drainage facilities along 6.7 miles of the Junipero Serra Freeway (Interstate 280), and half-mile of Skyline Boulevard (Route 35) near Hillsborough.

At the time this section of freeway was constructed the San Francisco Water Department required that its watershed be protected from runoff from the freeway. A temporary drainage system was constructed, which diverted runoff into Huntington Creek and the San Bruno storm drain system. As of now, settlement has occurred and slopes are stabilized sufficiently to permit return of the runoff to the San Francisco watershed.

Work limits on the Junipero Serra Freeway (Interstate 280) extend from just north of the Eugene Doran Memorial Bridge across San Mateo Creek to Skyline Boulevard (Route 35) in San Bruno. On Skyline Boulevard work limits begin at that junction of the two routes and extend 0.4 mile northerly. One bid was received, from McGuire and Hester, Oakland, $223,048.

Traffic safety improvement will be done along portions of the Cabrillo and Bayshore freeways (Route 1 and 101 respectively). Work will include installation of new guardrail or modification of existing obsolete guardrail, at bridge ends, piers, abutments and sign structure supports to lessen severity of impact should they be struck by out-of-control vehicles.

The freeway sections affected are on the Cabrillo Freeway (Route 1) between Sharp Park Road in Pacifica and Skyline Boulevard (Route 35) in Daly City; and Bayshore (Route 101) from just south of East Hillsdale Boulevard in San Mateo to the Sierra Point off-ramp in South San Francisco. Five bids were received. Apparent low bidder was Apex Fence Co., Inc., of Anderson, $16,931.

Greenwood Files Suit For Libel

Frank L. Greenwood, recently fired superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City, Wednesday filed a $282,000 suit against Mrs. Beverly Forrester, a member of the board of trustees. The complaint charges she libeled him.

Greenwood, who is fighting in the courts to win back his job, charged that statements made by Mrs. Forrester at a public meeting in July and published in the Daly City record contributed to his termination.

The comments dealt with the controversial audit of the school district and Greenwood's conduct surrounding that issue.

Greenwood's suit claims the comments have brought him into public disgrace and disrepute.

He called the comments defamatory and false, claiming Mrs. Forrester knew they were not true.

He is seeking $100,000 general damages, $100,000 punitive damages and $82,169 for loss of income in light of his firing.

Assistant

Harriet McCawley of San Francisco has been appointed assistant manager of Security Pacific Bank's Serramonte Plaza branch in Daly City. Mrs. McCawley joined the bank in 1955.

Brisbane Recall Move Successful

Brisbane voters ousted Mayor Jess C. Salmon, and two of the city's councilmen in a special recall election held yesterday.

In what was considered by politcal observers to be a stunning upset, some 61 per cent of Brisbane's 1,400 registered voters trooped to the polls and voted overwhelmingly to recall Salmon, a veteran of 12 years on the city council. William Lawrence and Julius Stern.

Salmon had been the target of two previous recalls, but had retained office each time.

Yesterday, however, Salmon lost 558 for recall to 339 for a "no" vote on the issue.

Lawrence lost 525 for, to 373 "no recall," while Stern lost 535 to 362 for "no recall."

On the question whether the city should appoint three new councilmen or hold another special election within the 74 to 89-day period, voters mandated elections be held.

The vote was 664 for elections to a mere 84 for appointment.

None of the three recalled officials can run for council office either in the upcoming special election or in the regular elections of April, 1974. They must wait at least one year from the date of their recall. They will, however, hold office until replaced.

Only last week all three men were predicting an easy victory in the recall.

Lawrence took over the chairmanship of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities last month by unanimous vote of the member cities.

Tomorrow will be his first and last full meeting as head of the seven-member group when the NCCC meets in South San Francisco.

The recalled councilman blamed his ouster on "a new element in the city" led by fellow councilman Dr. S. J. Guardino.

He said the pro-recall group's charges that he was non-responsive to the citizens "is ridiculous" and asked "how can we be anything else other than what we were."

"We were always there to represent the people (at various functions)" he said.

There was no indication who the candidate would be in the upcoming special election sometime around the first of the year.

Salmon said in a prepared statement

"To some this has been a controversial year. I hope productive in the final analysis. The issues have not been clearly made, perhaps. But I have faith in our community, as a whole, and the city council, as a legislative body, who are capable of rising to the occasion in the best interest of Brisbane.

"I hope we can solve our problems with the least amount of unfavorable publicity in 1973. It has been an honor and pleasure to serve this community for 12 years," Salmon said.

Pacifican Found Slain

SAN FRANCISCO

The body of a taxi driver, shot in the back of the head, was found Monday in his vehicle which was parked in the Upper Noe Valley section of San Francisco.

Homicide inspector William Armstrong said he couldn't determine whether robbery was the motive for the slaying of Roland J. Canfield, 41, of Pacifica.

The cab's locked money box had not been tampered with. Although Canfield's wallet was in his pocket, it contained no money.

WAYNE RADMILOVICH of Daly City has been appointed Northern California sales representative of Schenley World T. & I. Co. He formerly handled special brands for Juillard Alpha Liquor Co.

Mateo Delays Severance Talk

The San Mateo City Council has postponed its proposed discussion of the advisability of withdrawing from the San Mateo County Harbor District to a study meeting on Oct. 11, when both sides of the issue will be heard.

Originally a study had been set for Sept. 13.
